EXTERIOR VIEW of Ulster County Infirmary for chronically ill elderly folk, with its pleasant surroundings. (Freeman photo.)

Public May Visit New Ulster Infirmary

There is something about an old building, standing vacant and beginning to show signs of neglect, that tugs at the heart-strings of the observer. This is especially true of a large old building, substantially constructed, prominently situated amid the overgrown vestiges of once well-kept grounds.

Oldsters view the derelict and dream of it restored to its former usefulness; younger persons compute replacement costs and perhaps romanticize a little over the "grandeur" of the old structure when compared to some of today's strictly functional designs.

In the case of the old City Home on Flatbush avenue, dreams of restoration have become a reality. The 75-year-old building, completely renovated and equipped and ready to begin operations as the Ulster County Infirmary, will be opened to public inspection Saturday and Sunday of this week from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

"RESTORED" IS an understatement. From its gleaming kitchens, its tiled floors and ceramic baths, to its acoustic tiled ceilings and modern lighting, the building outshines its former self. Even the neighborhood children who will be forced to forego their annual Halloween visit to the "haunted house" will be impressed.

It was not, of course, out of sentimentality for old buildings that Ulster county poured $300,000 into renovating and equipping the former City Home.

With the average life-span of its residents increasing, Ulster county like the rest of the nation was faced with the problem of how to carry out its responsibility toward its aging, and especially those suffering from chronic illness.

ACROSS THE NATION, hospital beds which should be used to restore to productivity persons with curable ailments were being siphoned off to care for the aged chronically ill who needed care but didn't need the operating-room and other facilities which have to be figured in costs of a general hospital.

To build an entirely new structure, from the ground up, to care for the chronically ill costs today from $12,000 to $15,000 per bed, according to best estimates.

At that rate, to build a chronic infirmary of equal capacity to the present 96-bed infirmary would cost the county at the minimum $1,150,000.

The possibility of making use of the old City Home, vacant since 1948, began to "grow" on residents, officials of the Welfare Department and members of the Board of Supervisors.

Inspections showed the old building was sound and capable of extensive renovation. Among other things on the plus side was the fact that modern type fireproof stairways had been installed in the days of the alphabetical agencies.

BY JUNE 9, 1955, when Kenneth E. Wilson of Woodstock, then majority leader of the Board of Supervisors and now Assemblyman from Ulster county, introduced a resolution in the board requesting the city of Kingston to deed the property to the county to be used as a chronic infirmary, the project had gained widespread support. It passed without a dissenting vote, as did another resolution directing Welfare Commissioner Edward E. Murray to have plans and estimates of costs prepared.

The Common Council of the city of Kingston likewise ap-

Oakleys' Funeral Set for Sunday At 2 in Rosendale

Luther J. Oakley, 39, and his wife, Pearl, 29, of Tillson died of carbon monoxide poisoning from inhaling coal gas from a hot air furnace, Coroner Francis J. McCardle said today.

A double funeral is scheduled Sunday at 2 p. m., with religious rites conducted in the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, by the Revs. Albert H. Shultis, pastor of Rosendale Reformed Church, and Davis W. Arnold, vicar of All Saints Episcopal Church, Rosendale.

Burial will be in Rosendale plains Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home today and Saturday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 10 p. m.

RULING THE deaths accidental, the coroner said his investigation along with Deputy Sheriff Arthur B. Smith disclosed that the coal fired furnace had been banked, probably due to the warm night, and that fumes escaped from a check draft more than half open in the pipe.

The bodies were discovered at the Oakley's one-story bungalow home at Tillson by Ray Temple

Protection Is Set for Children

A policewoman will be stationed at Stephan and Farrelly streets for the protection of school children in that area, as the result of action yesterday by the Board of Police Commissioners.

The board acted in favor of the appointment on recommendation of Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

POLICE CHIEF Raymond Van Buren reported 13 persons injured in 11 traffic mishaps in October. Of these, three were pedestrians, seven were hurt in collisions of two or more motor vehicles and one was injured when a vehicle ran off a roadway.

The chief's report also showed 96 arrests for the month, of which 33 were for public intoxication, 16 for third degree assault, 12 for violations of the city traffic code, 12 for infractions of the vehicle and traffic law, nine for forgery, second degree and non-support. Only one juvenile delinquency arrest was made. Three arrests were made on charges of driving while intoxicated.

The one arrest for manslaughter, first degree, listed in the report, marked the arrest, early in October, of Herbert E. Gordon, of 102 Bruyn avenue, who was charged with fatally injuring Otis Adams, 55, of the town of Ulster, during a fight.

Luciano Order Given

Naples, Nov. 19 (AP)—A Naples "admonition board" today ordered deported New York vice king Charles (Lucky) Luciano to stay off the streets from dusk to dawn for the next two years.

The board also forbade the former racketeer to associate with "questionable" companions or to visit places of amusement for the same period. It ordered him not to travel farther than 12 miles from Naples at any time.

Central Hudson Host to Newsmen

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation was host to approximately 30 editors and newsmen from daily newspapers in the Hudson Valley in a tour of the Danskammer Point generating station on Thursday afternoon.

Operation of the station, which now has two units with a combined output of 120,000 kilowatts, was outlined by Ralph Morhous, superintendent.

With the placing in service of the first unit at Danskammer Point in December, 1951, and the escond unit in September of this year, together with the new Neversink Hydroelectric Plant at Grahamsville, Central Hudson completed the transition to a generating company, producing in its own system practically all the electrical requirements of its customers, it was pointed out. Before 1951, the company was chiefly a "purchasing company," buying most of its electrical requirements from neighboring companies.

RATED AS ONE of the most efficient generating stations in the United States, Danskammer Point produces one kilowatthour of electricity from less than three-quarters of a pound of coal. Approximately 1,000 tons are burned every 24 hours to supply the daily generation of 2,500,000 kilowatt-hours, and about 80,000 tons of coal are maintained in storage on the premises at all times, Morhous said.

The station, erected at a cost of $25 million, employs 86 men, the superintendent pointed out.

After touring the plant, the visitors were the guests of Central Hudson at a dinner at the Ship's Lantern Inn at Milton.

BPW Hears Building Proposals

Ideas Referred To Various Units

Property developments in the uptown area of the city, hinting at possible fast growth of the city's residential sections, within the next year or two, were referred for action at a meeting of the Board of Public Works last night.

A group, interested in developement of the Pearl street extension section met with Mayor Frederick H. Stang, members of the board and other officials before last night's meeting and were told that plans would be ready early next year.

Proposals for developing two other sections were referred to the city engineer, planning board and corporation counsel.

Krovan Homes, Inc., of 73 Albany avenue is interested in development of streets to be known as Utopia road and Crescent Lane in the Grand View avenue section, asked for sanitary sewers, storm drains, sidewalks, curbing and paving. A map indicates that many lots will be available in this area.

THE GROUP interested in development of the Pearl street extension and Ring Top road sections, asked for sanitary and storm sewers, pavement and curbing, but requested no sidewalks. They were invited to meet again with the board and other officials to discuss the plans after they are prepared.

With the mayor and members of the board at the meeting of the group were Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, Harry F. Edinger, of the county health department, Edward I. McCaffery, consulting engineer, City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, and Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent.

RCA Is Named In Suit

Monopolized U. S. Patents, Charge

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Justice Department today filed an anti-trust suit against Radio Corporation of America (RCA), charging the company with monopolizing the radio-television patent-licensing business.

Acting Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers announced the civil action was brought in the Federal District Court at New York city.

The suit is directed principally against the patent licensing system maintained by RCA. It asks the court to order revisions.

The suit raises no monopoly issue with respect to RCA's farflung manufacturing enterprises.

THE ACTION CHARGED that since about 1932, RCA has monopolized radio-television patent-licensing by means of a conspiracy aided by American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Western Electric, Bell Telephone Laboratories, General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corp., and others.

These companies are named as co-conspirators, but not as defendants in the New York action.

A principal complaint in the suit is that RCA holds some 10,000 patents or patent rights in the radio-television field, and that it follows a policy of "package licensing" under which other radio-television manufacturers must buy all of the RCA patents, rather than one or more on selected items.

The government asserted that RCA licenses its patents to almost all radio-television manufacturers in the country.

THE COURT was asked to prohibit the "package" handling of patent licenses and to conduct a separate hearing to determine what should be done in future about the extensive RCA patent holdings.

The government said the radio-television industry "is in a stage of active evolutionary development. It said "research and patent-licensing within the industry not only determines the character of consumer products, but has vital significance for the national defense."

The complaint alleged RCA "has achieved and exercised the power not only to control the introduction to commercial use of new radio and television developments and services, but also to exclude potential or actual competitors from the patent licensing business, all in misuse of the patent laws."

The Justice Department said the company had amassed its patent collection by acquisitions

Mendes-France Meets Dulles

French Premier Is Unsuccessful Getting American Aid Commitment

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP) — Premier Mendes-France today pledged quick French approval of the German rearmament agreements regardless of new concessions Russia might offer to delay ratification.

"Ratification is not a matter of negotiation with the east," he said. "It cannot be regarded by the east as a trading point."

The visiting French leader, interrupting his foreign policy talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, gave his promise in a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon.

Talks Are Continued With Secretary Dulles

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France and Secretary of State Dulles take up again today the problems of divided and Communist-menaced Indochina.

The visiting premier, at the midpoint of his three-day stay in Washington, also interrupts his official conferences for a speech to the National Press Club (2 p. m.), expected to be a general exposition and defense of his sometimes controversial policies.

Diplomatic informants said that at a State Department session which lasted most of yesterday afternoon Mendes-France tried unsuccessfully to get a quick estimate of the amount of American aid France could expect next year for its forces in the non-Communist part of Indochina.

He was reported also to have told Dulles that Gen. J. Lawton Collins' remarks about plans for American training of free Indochinese soldiers seemed to imply that French cooperation in this work was wanting.

COLLINS, the U. S. Army chief of staff now temporarily serving as special ambassador in Indochina, said in a Saigon news conference that the United States wants to train troops who could pledge loyalty to Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

U. S. Sources said they were sure Collins meant no criticism of what they termed good cooperation on the part of the French.

They said also Mendes-France was told no aid estimate can be made until Collins completes a survey.

Lengthening the list of today's discussion items are France's difficulties in North Africa, where Nationalists in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco are restive under French authority.

INFORMANTS SAID Mendes-France would be asked not to

Frederick Coykendall, 81, Dies Suddenly in New York

Frederick Coykendall, 81, a native of Kingston who was chairman of the Columbia University Board of Trustees since 1933, died suddenly Thursday at his New York residence, 1 West 72nd street.

FREDERICK COYKENDALL

University classes will be suspended during his funeral service, scheduled Monday at St. Paul's Chapel on the campus. The body is now reposing at the Grace Church Chantry, Broadway and 10th street, where friends may call between 3 and 6 p. m. Saturday and Sunday. The funeral will be held at 11 a. m. Monday. MR. COYKENDALL is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Warrin Coykendall; a daughter, Mrs. Frank F. Walker of Atherton, Calif., a grandson, Frank F. Walker, Jr., and a brother, Frank Coykendall of New York.

Mr. Coykendall, who was born in this city Nov. 23. 1872, the son of the late Samuel Decker and Mary Augusta Cornell Coykendall, was widely known throughout the state for his connections with the shipping industry as well as his work with Columbia University.

Receiving his early education at Ulster Academy and Columbia Grammar School in New York, he entered Columbia College in 1891 and received the AB degree in 1895, graduating with Phi Beta Kappa honors. In 1897 he received degrees of civil engineering and master of arts.

HE BECAME secretary of the Cornell Steamboat Company in 1879, manager in 1900 and was elevated to the presidency in 1913. He had also served as vice-president and a director of Duttons, Inc., and was vice-perisdent and a director of the old Rhinecliff and Kingston Ferry Company.

Death Threat Is Made Against Yonkers Reporter

Yonkers, Nov. 19 (AP)—A death threat was telephoned to the home of a veteran newspaper reporter early today shortly after chunks of concrete were thrown through windows of his home by three or four men who fled in an automobile.

The reporter, Arthur E. Chambers Jr., has been employed on the Yonkers Herald-Statesman for some 25 years. He covered police, fire, and court news for the paper, but said he had no idea what led to today's episode.

Three plate glass windows of the newspaper office also were smashed, and officers found a note saying: "Get rid of Chambers, you."

The first incident, at Chambers' home, took place about 1:30 a. m.

Three or four men were observed getting out of a car, throwing missiles through three upper floor windows and four first-floor windows. The men then got back in the car and sped away.

Chambers summoned police and while they were still on the premises investigating the phone rang. Chambers' wife, Elsie, answered and a man's voice said:

"Next time your husband's

Recess Is Taken for Two Weeks

Lehman Protests With Fulbright

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP) — Senators marking time in an 11-day recess while Sen. McCarthy is treated for an elbow injury disagreed sharply today on whether they ever will reach a showdown on censuring him.

The Senate voted 76-2 yesterday—with Sens. Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Lehman (D., Lib., N.Y.) shouting "no"—to adjourn until Nov. 29. They had heard advice of doctors that it will take that long to treat "traumatic bursitis" said to have developed in McCarthy's right arm."

Lehman's effort to substitute a Nov. 22 date was beaten 76-2.

The adjournment brought to an abrupt halt debate on a resolution to censure the Wisconsin Republican for alleged contemptuous treatment of a Senate Elections subcommittee and "repeated abuse" of Brig. Gen. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

SEN. KNOWLAND of California, the Republican leader, said there is "no doubt in my mind that the issue will be resolved" by a vote on the censure resolution before a midnight, Dec. 24, adjournment deadline previously fixed by Congress.

But Fulbright, one of three Senators who joined in bringing 46 overlapping original charges against McCarthy, disagreed in a separate interview.

"I doubt very seriously that he will ever be able to get the censure resolution to a vote," he said. "We certainly will not be able to do it without full cooperation of the Republican leadership if around-the-clock sessions are necessary."

Knowland said he would meet any filibuster threat if and when it arose, but predicted there would be none.

SEN. MORSE (Ind.-Ore.), who with Fulbright and Sen. Flanders (R.-Vt.) brought the original accusations against McCarthy, said the Wisconsin senator's friends had "overplayed their hand" in objecting to proposals to fix a date for voting after debate is resumed.

Fulbright had tried to get an agreement to vote by Dec. 20, but Sen. Jenner (R.-Ind.), a McCarthy supporter, killed the move with an objection.

Certainly there is going to be a vote, because the public is going to see through this maneuver," Morse said. "Sen. Dirksen and Jenner have demonstrated by their tactics they head a group that wants to see this thing kept from a vote."

WHEN DIRKSEN was asked by reporters if he had any such aim, the Illinois Republican replied:

"Goodness me, no. Nothing could be farther from the fact. Everybody is anxious to get through with this."

Chairman Watkins (R.-Utah) of the six-member committee which presented the censure resolution against McCarthy, said he doesn't believe the recess will prevent a vote.

"I am confident senators will permit the matter to come to a vote before the adjournment deadline," he said. "I doubt that senators opposed to the resolution will resort to a filibuster."

AS THE UNOFFICIAL quarterback of the McCarthy forces, Dirksen has drafted a substitute which, without naming McCarthy, would deplore extreme action of senators, chide the senate for laxity in enforcing its rules and call for a study and action in the 85th Congress on tightening rules.

Dirksen told the Senate yes-

Sheppard Put Rumors Aside

Cleveland, Nov. 19 (AP)—A Cleveland detective testified today Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard shrugged off reports his slain wife was infatuated with a house guest, Dr. Lester Hoversten.

Robert F. Schottke, a homicide detective for 10 years, related that he interviewed Sheppard a few hours after pretty and pregnant Marilyn Sheppard was clubbed to death last July 4.

"We asked him if he had heard rumors that Dr. Hoversten had been infatuated with his wife. He said he had heard rumors • • • but he didn't pay any attention to them because he knew his wife was faithful."

Store Openings Will Start Dec. 17 For Kingston and Area Shoppers

Retail stores in the uptown section of Kingston will remain open evenings beginning Friday, December 17, through Thursday evening, December 23, until 9 o'clock to accommodate Christmas shoppers. Stores will close on Friday evening, Christmas eve, at 5 o'clock.

This will give six evening shopping periods for those who are employed during the day and cannot shop during the daytime hours.

Announcement of the Christmas store hours was made following a meeting of the directors of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association which was held Thursday. Announcement of the decision of the directors was made by Louis Kantrowitz, president of the Uptown Business Men's Association.

The suit is directed principally against the patent licensing system maintained by RCA. It asks the court to order revisions.

The suit raises no monopoly issue with respect to RCA's far-flung manufacturing enterprises.

THE ACTION CHARGED that since about 1932, RCA has monopolized radio-television patent-licensing by means of a conspiracy aided by American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Western Electric, Bell Telephone Laboratories, General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corp., and others.

These companies are named as co-conspirators, but not as defendants in the New York action.

A principal complaint in the suit is that RCA holds some 10,000 patents or patent rights in the radio-television field, and that it follows a policy of "package licensing" under which other radio-television manufacturers must buy all of the RCA patents, rather than one or more on selected items.

The government asserted that RCA licenses its patents to almost all radio-television manufacturers in the country.

THE COURT was asked to prohibit the "package" handling of patent licenses and to conduct a separate hearing to determine what should be done in future about the extensive RCA patent holdings.

The government said the radio-television industry "is in a stage of active evolutionary development. It said "research and patent-licensing within the industry not only determines the character of consumer products, but has vital significance for the national defense."

The complaint alleged RCA "has achieved and exercised the power not only to control the introduction to commercial use of ne / radio and television developments and services, but also to exclude potential or actual competitors from the patent licensing business, all in misuse of the patent laws."

The Justice Department said the company had amassed its patent collection by acquisitions

Mendes-France Meets Dulles

French Premier Is Unsuccessful Getting American Aid Commitment

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP) — Premier Mendes-France today pledged quick French approval of the German rearmament agreements regardless of new concessions Russia might offer to delay ratification.

"Ratification is not a matter of negotiation with the east," he said. "It cannot be regarded by the east as a trading point."

The visiting French leader, interrupting his foreign policy talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, gave his promise in a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon.

Talks Are Continued With Secretary Dulles

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France and Secretary of State Dulles take up again today the problems of divided and Communist-menaced Indochina.

The visiting premier, at the midpoint of his three-day stay in Washington, also interrupts his official conferences for a speech to the National Press Club (2 p. m.), expected to be a general exposition and defense of his sometimes controversial policies.

Diplomatic informants said that at a State Department session which lasted most of yesterday afternoon Mendes-France tried unsuccessfully to get a quick estimate of the amount of American aid France could expect next year for its forces in the non-Communist part of Indochina.

He was reported also to have told Dulles that Gen. J. Lawton Collins' remarks about plans for American training of free Indochinese soldiers seemed to imply that French cooperation in this work was wanting.

COLLINS, the U. S. Army chief of staff now temporarily serving as special ambassador in Indochina, said in a Saigon news conference that the United States wants to train troops who could pledge loyalty to Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

U. S. Sources said they were sure Collins meant no criticism of what they termed good cooperation on the part of the French.

They said also Mendes-France was told no aid estimate can be made until Collins completes a survey.

Lengthening the list of today's discussion items are France's difficulties in North Africa, where Nationalists in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco are restive under French authority.

INFORMANTS SAID Mendes-France would be asked not to

Recess Is Taken for Two Weeks

Lehman Protests With Fulbright

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP) — Senators marking time in an 11-day recess while Sen. McCarthy is treated for an elbow injury disagreed sharply today on whether they ever will reach a showdown on censuring him.

The Senate voted 76-2 yesterday—with Sens. Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Lehman (D., Lib., N.Y.) shouting "no"—to adjourn until Nov. 29. They had heard advice of doctors that it will take that long to treat "traumatic bursitis" said to have developed in McCarthy's right arm."

Lehman's effort to substitute a Nov. 22 date was beaten 76-2.

The adjournment brought to an abrupt halt debate on a resolution to censure the Wisconsin Republican for alleged contemptuous treatment of a Senate Elections subcommittee and "repeated abuse" of Brig. Gen. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

SEN. KNOWLAND of California, the Republican leader, said there is "no doubt in my mind that the issue will be resolved" by a vote on the censure resolution before a midnight, Dec. 24, adjournment deadline previously fixed by Congress.

But Fulbright, one of three Senators who joined in bringing 46 overlapping original charges against McCarthy, disagreed in a separate interview.

"I doubt very seriously that he will ever be able to get the censure resolution to a vote," he said. "We certainly will not be able to do it without full cooperation of the Republican leadership if around-the-clock sessions are necessary."

Knowland said he would meet any filibuster threat if and when it arose, but predicted there would be none.

SEN. MORSE (Ind.-Ore.), who with Fulbright and Sen. Flanders (R.-Vt.) brought the original accusations against McCarthy, said the Wisconsin senator's friends had "overplayed their hand" in objecting to proposals to fix a date for voting after debate is resumed.

Fulbright had tried to get an agreement to vote by Dec. 20, but Sen. Jenner (R.-Ind.), a McCarthy supporter, killed the move with an objection.

Certainly there is going to be a vote, because the public is going to see through this maneuver," Morse said. "Sen. Dirksen and Jenner have demonstrated by their tactics they head a group that wants to see this thing kept from a vote."

WHEN DIRKSEN was asked by reporters if he had any such aim, the Illinois Republican replied:

"Goodness me, no. Nothing could be farther from the fact. Everybody is anxious to get through with this."

Chairman Watkins (R.-Utah) of the six-member committee which presented the censure resolution against McCarthy, said he doesn't believe the recess will prevent a vote.

"I am confident senators will permit the matter to come to a vote before the adjournment deadline," he said. "I doubt that senators opposed to the resolution will resort to a filibuster."

AS THE UNOFFICIAL quarterback of the McCarthy forces, Dirksen has drafted a substitute which, without naming McCarthy, would deplore extreme action of senators, chide the senate for laxity in enforcing its rules and call for a study and action in the 85th Congress on tightening rules.

Dirksen told the Senate yes-

Death Threat Is Made Against Yonkers Reporter

Yonkers, Nov. 19 (AP)—A death threat was telephoned to the home of a veteran newspaper reporter early today shortly after chunks of concrete were thrown through windows of his home by three or four men who fled in an automobile.

The reporter, Arthur E. Chambers Jr., has been employed on the Yonkers Herald-Statesman for some 25 years. He covered police, fire, and court news for the paper, but said he had no idea what led to today's episode.

Three plate glass windows of the newspaper office also were smashed, and officers found a note saying: "Get rid of Chambers, you."

The first incident, at Chambers' home, took place about 1:30 a. m.

Three or four men were observed getting out of a car, throwing missiles through three upper floor windows and four first-floor windows. The men then got back in the car and sped away.

Chambers summoned police and while they were still on the premises investigating the phone rang. Chambers' wife, Elsie, answered and a man's voice said:

"Next time your husband's

Sheppard Put Rumors Aside

Cleveland, Nov. 19 (AP)—A Cleveland detective testified today Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard shrugged off reports his slain wife was infatuated with a house guest, Dr. Lester Hoversten.

Robert F. Schottke, a homicide detective for 10 years, related that he interviewed Sheppard a few hours after pretty and pregnant Marilyn Sheppard was clubbed to death last July 4.

"We asked him if he had heard rumors that Dr. Hoversten had been infatuated with his wife. He said he had heard rumors • • • but he didn't pay any attention to them because he knew his wife was faithful."

She also mentioned the WHC's special health advice and assistance to other nations in sanitation, epidemics, TB, yaws and malaria, which has since 1946 reduced the death rate among children from two out of five to two out of ten and added hours to industrial production and made for better standards of living without which lasting peace is impossible.

Mrs. Smith summarized the discussion by emphasizing that attitudes and cooperation in the UN with the work of special committees are the price of lasting peace. The program was part of a campaign for world well-being under the guidance of Church World Service, the agency for distributing the gifts of the National Council of Churches. This service has been entrusted with the handling of U. S. surplus milk, butter, cheese, cottonseed oil.

A special election on December 11 between the hours of 2 and 9 o'clock will be held at the school for the voters in the Central district to vote upon two propositions: 1. Urged to Ask Benson

Utica, Nov. 19 (AP)—Upstate New York dairymen's groups have been urged to carry to Secretary of Agriculture Benson their plea for a higher fluid milk price in the New York milkshed. Ernest C. Stobeck of Macedon, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn., made the suggestion yesterday after learning that Agriculture Department officials had rebuffed the request of four milk producer groups for a hearing.

Chutists Transferred

Taipeh, Formosa, Nov. 19 (AP)—The official Nationalist Chinese Tato News Agency said today Chinese Communists have transferred a division of paratroopers to Chekiang Province for possible action against island outposts the Nationalists hold off the Red mainland. Tatao, run by the Interior Ministry, said the division, the 4th, had 11,000 men. The agency said they were transferred from Suchow, in northern Kiangsu, to Hangchow, capital of Chekiang, via Shanghai. Hangchow is 160 miles northwest of the Tachens, northern anchor of the Nationalist offshore outposts.

Merchants Confident of Big Business for Yule Season

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—It's up to the consumers now. Store shelves are filled with Christmas gifts. Elegant new cars are rolling off the production lines. New houses continue to rise around the land. Gadgets to fill them are coming from the factories in abundance.

Professional pulse-feelers say that business is operating today in a climate of confidence. The bulls have been having it all their way in Wall Street. Corporate bigwigs predict that next year all should be serene for industry and trade.

THERE WOULD seem to be only one question left hanging; What will the consumers do?

Merchants confidently expect that consumers will make this as good or better a sales season than ever before. They point to the general air of confidence in the future, to the high total of personal incomes after taxes, to the stability in prices, and to attractive new styling and improved quality of many of their goods.

Auto makers predict that at least 5½ million Americans will find the necessary dough to buy that many of the high-styled new cars — some of them with equally elegant new price tags. And the dealers are hoping that other Americans will find the money to buy the used cars traded-in by the 5½ million.

THE HOUSING industry and government officials are in agreement that next year will see new houses continue to go up at the same high rate as at present. Easy money and relaxed payment terms will be the big lures.

Whether the consumers will part with all the money that the hopes of the merchants, the auto makers, the home builders, the home appliance and furnishing men depended upon is the one unresolved question.

The next few weeks should tell the story.

Traffic in the stores of the land is high. Retail sales all year have stayed only slightly under booming 1953. The general air of less tension this fall is counted upon to make Christmas gift buying more generous and to pull the year's retail sales total up in one last big spurt.

DEALERS report great interest in the new cars. But in some parts of the nation there has already been some juggling with the new prices—discounts reported here and there, and the appearance of new models in a few used-car lots.

If the car sales come along as generally expected it will mean that the car production lines will go on humming, the steel mills will continue to have a rush of new orders, the glass companies, the rubber companies, some textile mills will have happy days far into the new year.

That consumers are pretty well heeled is generally assumed. That there is plenty of money around for the finance companies and the mortgage investors to hand out is also agreed.

THAT GENERAL confidence is high is also fairly evident. But some cautious observers point out that confidence could be jolted. And they name two possibilities.

First, usually unemployment starts upward just after Christmas. A rise in the number of jobless in the next few months might scare off some would-be purchasers.

Second, much of the present confidence stems from the contagious enthusiasm in the stock market. But if one of these days the market should have what those who write about such things like to call a "major correction." would that shatter confidence?

The signs right now are that the consumer will come through as expected and buy the cars, the houses, the furnishings, the clothing, the gifts which businessmen are gambling on. If he does, the business pickup will go on into the new year.

Starts Prison Term

San Francisco, Nov. 18 (AP)—One of the four Puerto Rican Nationalists who shot up the U. S. House of Representatives last March yesterday began serving a 25 to 75-year sentence at Alcatraz in San Francisco Bay. Rafael C. Miranda, 26, was brought to the federal prison island from New York by U. S. Marshal Thomas Lunney. Five congressmen were wounded when the four fired wildly from the visitors gallery. The four were convicted in Washington on five counts of various assault charges.

September Business Equals 1953 Levels

Albany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Business activity in the state for September touched 1953 levels for the first time this year, the commerce department said today.

The department reported its index of business activity stood unchanged from August at 117.

Non-agricultural employment for September hit a new 1954 high of 5,886,900 jobs, an increase of 33,000 over August. Manufacturing employment jumped by 14,000 jobs from August to 1,876,700.

During the week ended Oct. 30, unemployment insurance claimants numbered 234,000. The department said that the total reflected the onset of an autumn decline in the apparel and construction trades.

Urged to Ask Benson

Utica, Nov. 19 (AP)—Upstate New York dairymen's groups have been urged to carry to Secretary of Agriculture Benson their plea for a higher fluid milk price in the New York milkshed. Ernest C. Stobeck of Macedon, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn., made the suggestion yesterday after learning that Agriculture Department officials had rebuffed the request of four milk producer groups for a hearing.

Chutists Transferred

Taipeh, Formosa, Nov. 19 (AP)—The official Nationalist Chinese Tato News Agency said today Chinese Communists have transferred a division of paratroopers to Chekiang Province for possible action against island outposts the Nationalists hold off the Red mainland. Tatao, run by the Interior Ministry, said the division, the 4th, had 11,000 men. The agency said they were transferred from Suchow, in northern Kiangsu, to Hangchow, capital of Chekiang, via Shanghai. Hangchow is 160 miles northwest of the Tachens, northern anchor of the Nationalist offshore outposts.

Merchants Confident of Big Business for Yule Season

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—It's up to the consumers now. Store shelves are filled with Christmas gifts. Elegant new cars are rolling off the production lines. New houses continue to rise around the land. Gadgets to fill them are coming from the factories in abundance.

Professional pulse-feelers say that business is operating today in a climate of confidence. The bulls have been having it all their way in Wall Street. Corporate bigwigs predict that next year all should be serene for industry and trade.

THERE WOULD seem to be only one question left hanging; What will the consumers do?

Merchants confidently expect that consumers will make this as good or better a sales season than ever before. They point to the general air of confidence in the future, to the high total of personal incomes after taxes, to the stability in prices, and to attractive new styling and improved quality of many of their goods.

Auto makers predict that at least 5½ million Americans will find the necessary dough to buy that many of the high-styled new cars — some of them with equally elegant new price tags. And the dealers are hoping that other Americans will find the money to buy the used cars traded-in by the 5½ million.

THE HOUSING industry and government officials are in agreement that next year will see new houses continue to go up at the same high rate as at present. Easy money and relaxed payment terms will be the big lures.

Whether the consumers will part with all the money that the hopes of the merchants, the auto makers, the home builders, the home appliance and furnishing men depended upon is the one unresolved question.

The next few weeks should tell the story.

Traffic in the stores of the land is high. Retail sales all year have stayed only slightly under booming 1953. The general air of less tension this fall is counted upon to make Christmas gift buying more generous and to pull the year's retail sales total up in one last big spurt.

TOO MUCH MACHINE

It is time to limit the sphere of the machine. Its encroachment upon the realm of the human must cease. This becomes obvious with the announcement by an electronics expert that machines are now able to compose love letters.

The incredible feat is performed, according to Christopher Strachey, the expert, by feeding a scattered collection of endearing words into the electronic computer at Manchester University in England. The scrambled nouns, adjectives, adverbs and verbs are rearranged by the mechanical brain into complete sentences.

It must be admitted that these sentences are not such as any lover would want to send to his beloved. "Darling Sweetheart," reads one sentence, "you are my avid fellow feeling." Another goes, "My affection curiously clings to your passionate wish." As love letter sentences, they are crude. But they were written by a machine, and only represent a beginning. As the mechanical technique is developed, new and better love letters inevitably will be produced.

But is this good? Do we want machines writing us love letters? Certainly not. It's all very well for machines to take over the work load, to give us more leisure, but we don't want them—we can't permit them—to make love for us. After all, what would be left for us in our spare time? Obviously the spheres of men and machines must be defined, so that the latter will not intrude upon the former. Mechanically-produced love letters are too much. The direction must be reversed, lest man be overwhelmed by machines.

CLOTHING COLLECTION

The nationwide Thanksgiving clothing collection sponsored by the Catholic Bishops of the United States for victims of war, devastation and persecution opens Sunday in Catholic parishes from coast to coast.

In the New York Archdiocese there will be an envelope collection in all churches on Sunday followed by a clothing collection, which will continue to November 28.

The need for clothing, blankets and shoes still persists among the millions of refugees and civilians in Indochina, Europe, the Near East and in the recently flooded areas of Southern Italy.

Clothing and relief supplies will be distributed abroad to the neediest men, women and children without regard to race, color or creed.

Receiving depots will be staffed Thanksgiving week in Catholic schools and parish halls and several thousand volunteer workers will man these collection centers. The clothing will be baled and shipped to the areas of need.

Last year over ten million pounds of usable clothing, blankets, bedding and shoes were contributed to this one-week national appeal.

Every American can share what he has with the less fortunate overseas by participating in this great humanitarian effort.

EXPORTING KNOW-HOW

American "know-how", developed through years of doing business in the face of competition, can be used effectively in other countries to increase productivity and raise the standard of living. Proof of this may be found in the contribution made to France by an American department store operator named Mark Shaw.

By experimenting in France with American merchandising methods Shaw achieved amazing results. One clothing firm using his techniques increased wages by 15 per cent, cut the prices of the product 15 per cent, raised productivity by 30 per cent and sales volume by 40 per cent.

Shaw's services were lent to the government of France by our government. The results he achieved will encourage other French industries to try new ways of merchandising. In the long run this export of know-how may serve our allies better than any other form of help we have given them.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

PEKING'S CLAIM TO FORMOSA

The question of a successor state always arises after wars which are accompanied by revolutions. The successor states to the Austro-Hungarian Empire were a problem to the nations seeking a way to peace and, in a measure, that problem is not yet solved because some of those countries have been joined to the Soviet Universal State and one, at least, Yugoslavia, is Marxist but independent of the Kremlin, which poses a world problem.

In international relations, a new government does not exist legitimately for the nation that does not recognize it. John Bassett Moore, the pre-New Deal leading American authority on International Relations, held that premature recognition amounted to intervention in favor of the revolutionists or conquerors. He said:

". . . The recognition of the United States of America by France in 1778 was in reality an act of intervention, as is shown by Art. II. of the treaty. Great Britain recognized the Kingdom of Italy before Francis II, was entirely dispossessed."

It is also established that a recognition is absolute and irrevocable, unless restrictions or reservations are stated at the time of recognition. Furthermore, the United Stated has held that a change of government does not terminate existing treaties and that the successor state is responsible for them. At the Sixth International Conference of American States (1928), it was held:

"Treaties shall continue in effect even though the internal constitution of the contracting States has been modified. . . ."

The problem arises, is Communist China a successor state to the Republic of China with which we have binding treaties? The last government of the Republic of China has now taken refuge on the island of Formosa, having been replaced on the continent, after a civil war, by a Communist government. Even before the Communists had fully established themselves, certain countries, inccluding Great Britain, gave recognition to them, but the United States did not and the United Nations did not recognize Red China. Therefore, Red China, even though recognized by some countries as sovereign for China, was not admitted to the family of nations, whereas Formosa, from which recognition as sovereign of China was withdrawn by some countries, remained within the family of nations. For this condition, there have been some precedents in history.

Soviet Russia has accepted the position that Communist China is the legitimate successor state to the Republic of China and that the Thirty Years Treaty of Friendship and Alliance between Russia and China passes to Communist China. By virtue of this attitude, Soviet Russia recognizes Formosa as part of Communist China. It demands that the United Nations recognize Communist China as the successor state and that Communist China therefore succeed to the rights of the Republic of China under the Treaty of San Francisco (the Charter of the United Nations). The Thirty Years Treaty was accepted by Chiang Kai-shek because Franklin D. Roosevelt at Yalta (February, 1945) agreed to exact such a treaty from Chiang. T. V. Soong signed it (August, 1945) for China. While the Treaty was being negotiated and signed, Stalin was arranging for the Chinese Communists to become the successor state as is now clear.

SEATO was arranged partly as a defensive measure, partly to maintain the status quo in the East of Asia. Formosa was not invited to the SEATO Conference at Manila; neither was the Republic of Korea or Japan. The difficulties about inviting these countries arose from the recognition of Communist China by Great Britain and by France's capitulation at Geneva. Thus, while a defense is organized against further expansion by Communist China, the parties to the Conference are already bound by conflicting relationships with the government.

Should Communist China be recognized as the successor state to the Republic of China, there can be no legitimate basis for not including Formosa in Red China, as distressing as that would be for Americans. The compromise, which is presently being discussed, of double recognition, that is, of both Formosa and Red China, is untenable in theory and fact. Formosa is Chinese and to call the people on this island Formosans is to add insult to betrayal. It is not believable that such a compromise will satisfy either Mao Tze-tung or Chiang Kai-shek.

This problem will be solved by the course of events, one way or the other. The Chinese are accustomed to a long wait for history to work its wonders.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HYDRALAZINE IN HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

A few years ago there was much discussion about the sulpha drugs, penicillin and other antibiotics, then talk swung to ACTH and Cortisone, and now we are hearing a great deal about the drugs now in use to control or reduce high blood pressure. Trials on such drugs must be observed over long periods of time to obtain a fairly accurate estimate of just what they can accomplish.

In a review of a group of hypertensive (having high blood pressure) patients who had received continuous treatment with hydralazine as the sole agent used to reduce pressure, the previously noted fact that only about half the patients in a group will respond favorably to the drug was confirmed.

The favorable response in half the patients, however, was quite definite. There was a drop in the diastolic blood pressure (which is more important than the systolic pressure) and a sustained improvement in the heart, blood vessel and kidneys as compared with their state at the time the study was begun. The greatest improvement was found in kidney function; there was also a tendency to progressive improvement in the blood vessels of the brain. Also there was improvement in patients with congestive heart failure in that they could tolerate diets with a normal salt content, which is not usual.

"The most conclusive evidence of the effectiveness of hydralazine, however, is found in the death rate which showed only about one-fifth as many deaths among those who responded as among those who did not."

"Trial periods should continue for at least eight weeks before being considered complete. Treatment should begin with doses of 25 mg., four times a day, increased slowly until a total of 800 mg. a day is reached or the desired effect is obtained at a lower dosage. The dosage should then be reduced gradually to the minimum amount needed to maintain the best effect. Maintenance doses of 50 mg. four times a day seem to be satisfactory at present."

Patients should not be discouraged by the distressing side-effects often caused by this drug as they usually pass over in a short time and can be controlled in most cases although patients whose final response is very favorable may first have to pass through several weeks of discomfort.

It is felt that much of the dissatisfaction sometimes expressed with hydralazine is due to the large proportion of patients who do not respond to it, impatience in not getting immediate benefit, paying too much attention to the side-effects of the drug, and not having a very definite schedule of treatment.

A New Twist to the Political Baby-Kissing Act

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Three Latin-American countries now celebrate the U. S. Thanksgiving Day.

The president of Paraguay, Dr. Frederico Chaves, saw and thought well of the Thanksgiving Day celebration given by Americans at the U. S. Information Agency post in Asuncion in 1952. So he proclaimed by special decree that his country thereafter would also celebrate the last Thursday in November in thanks to God.

In the first Thanksgiving Day celebration by Paraguay, last year, a solemn high Mass was celebrated in Asuncion cathedral.

Brazil and Cuba have also issued similar Thanksgiving Day proclamations. It is hoped that observance will spread to other American countries.

WHEN SEN. William E. Knowland left California to come to Washington day after election, the result of the Senate race was still uncertain, and he didn't know what his job was going to be in the next Congress. "As the returns came in, my position as majority leader teetered, and finally on arrival in Washington," he said, "I tottered into being a minority leader."

RE-ELECTED Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D., N. M.) came back to Washington telling of a talk he made to some 300 farmers on the drouth relief situation. As he began to speak, it began to rain. "The downpour hit the side of the building and made a terrible racket," says Senator Anderson. "Finally one fellow in the back of the room yelled out, 'I wish the speaker would talk louder. This damn rain is making so much noise I can't hear what you're saying about the drouth.'"

SENATOR - ELECT Richard Neuberger of Oregon used to be a newspaperman himself and for a number of years he has augmented his meager pay as a member of the Oregon legislature by free-lance writing.

One of Neuberger's pet crusades has been to have the capital of the United States moved from Washington to some place in the west. During the war he served as an army captain at the Pentagon and came to despise Washington summer weather.

So at the end of the war, one of the first pieces he wrote was for the New York Times Sunday magazine. It said that the capital should be moved to Denver permanently.

Anyway, this piece of Neuberger's was printed along about Labor Day. The front pages of the same day's paper carried story and pictures of a one-foot snowfall in Denver the night before. The weather in Washington at the time was beautiful. And that ended the Neuberger crusade to move the capital out west.

JUDY HOLLIDAY, of Broadway and Hollywood fame, came to Washington the other day to receive an award from Treasury Department for making a four-minute Savings Bond Drive film for free. The award was presented in Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey's office.

For the cameramen, Miss Holliday sat at the secretary's big desk and make like she was signing papers. As she got up, Secretary Humphrey said to her, "Now if we're a million dollars short tomorrow, it will be because of one of those papers you've signed, and I'll have to turn you over to the FBI and Department of Justice."

Judy smiled, but just as she was leaving the office, who should walk in but Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr.

"Gee!" said the blonde, not missing her cue. "They sure go to work on you fast here, don't they?"

Modestly the A. G. told about how fast he was, and how it was necessary to show a lot of speed to keep up with crime.

"But I just did it!" exclaimed Judy.

So they all posed for the cameraman again, with Mr. Brownell in the picture to make it look like he'd caught a crook.

SEN. LYNDON B. JOHNSON (D. Tex.), who will be majority leader in the next Congress, admits that he has never been able to get rid of his nickname, "Landslide Lyndon," after winning his 1948 primary by 87 votes. If anything, the name will stick tighter if he can get elected majority leader by a couple of votes.

"In Texas we voted for Ike in '52 and got our tidelands back," cracks Johnson. "All we asked for this November was forgiveness and a Democratic Congress."

SPRY SEN. Theodore Francis Green (D., R. I.), who won reelection despite his 87 years, now challenges whether he is the oldest member. "Some of my colleagues stopped listing their birth dates in the congressional directory a dozen years ago," he charges.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Nov. 19, 1944—The Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau was scheduled to begin issuance of 1945 license plates on Dec. 4.

Mrs. Eleanor Smith, 51, of 555 Broadway, was fatally stricken with a heart attack on Smith avenue.

Senators Real Thin-Skinned Now Is Opinion of Wheeler, Once Tough Examiner

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 19—Former Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Democrat, who was one of the toughest of the cross-examiners on congressional committees in his time, met this correspondent the other day and remarked:

"What a spectacle the Senate is making of itself these days! How thin-skinned they are! Why, in the days of La Follette and Borah and Jim Reed we wouldn't have spent our time worrying about what one Senator said in denouncing another."

The elder Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in a Senate speech, for example, called Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, Republican, "a cringing creature" and added that "God Almighty had given him a hump on his back, crouching, cringing, un-American and unmanly."

Mr. Kellogg had presented a request to the Senate subcommittee on Privileges and Elections calling for the expulsion of La Follette on a charge of "sedition and disloyalty."

No censure resolution was ever proposed for any such remark. Indeed, the same Senator La Follette not only defied this Senate subcommittee by refusing to appear before it for cross-examination but on another occasion he did exactly what Senator McCarthy is being condemned for—he invited thousands of federal employes to disregard an executive order and to give him information about what was happening inside the executive branch of the government.

The elder La Follette since has been extolled as a great Liberal by public speakers, including former President Truman.

The incitement to disregard presidential decrees occurred in 1912 as a consequence of two executive orders — one issued in January, 1906 by President Theodore Roosevelt and the other in November, 1909 by President William Howard Taft — forbidding government employes from giving information to members of Congress under penalty of dismissal. The second executive order read in part:

"Nor shall any such person respond to any request for information from either House of Congress, or any committee of either House of Congress, or any member of Congress, except through, or as authorized by, the head of his department."

Senator La Follette wrote to thousands of government employes, primarily the mail clerks. Here is how "La Follette's Weekly", in an article placed in the Congressional Record on August 10, 1912, commented on this "gag order":

"Denied the right to petition Congress for relief from conditions such as these, the mail clerks determined to protect themselves by organizing. This drew from the administration a series of persecutions almost unparalleled. The men were told, in effect, that activity along these lines would mean the loss of their jobs. Senator La Follette took hold of this situation. He addressed letters to all the mail clerks asking for the facts. From the pile of correspondence he received, a most appalling mistreatment of government employes and American citizens is revealed."

Representative Lloyd, in a speech in the House at the time, said:

"If no government employe is permitted to speak, excepting through his department chiefs, and the department chief through the cabinet officer, then this is an aristocratic government, dominated completely by the official family of the President. If the principle enunciated in these executive orders is to be carried to the extreme, then there is no possible way of obtaining information excepting through the cabinet officers, and if these officials desire to withhold information and suppress the truth or to conceal their official acts it is within their power to do so."

Then "La Follette's Weekly," commenting further, said: "The 'gag rule' is un-American, unjust. It may fit into the scheme of things in a country like Russia, but is entirely antagonistic to the spirit of our institutions. It is a slap at the constituion and an affront to our citizens."

Then both Houses of Congress passed a law which is still on the statute books. It permits executive employes without penalty to transmit to members of Congress information they request.

The Watkins Committee significantly quoted the statute in question. It conceded that Senator McCarthy is a person "authorized" under the context of the law to receive information, but insisted that he could not make public any "classified" information. This, of course, he didn't do. But that's also a debatable point, for an executive officer could call anything "classified" and suppress information or fire an employe who gave the facts on corruption or treason to a member of Congress. The Watkins Committee didn't press any censure charge on this ground.

The important point is that this is a very old issue, and yet millions of words have been written recently condemning the Wisconsin senator out of hand for "inciting" government employes to violate the "law" when he did what his predecessor from Wisconsin, did. For, in urging government employes to give data to members of Congress despite an executive order—which, of course, is not law unless Congress sanction it — the late Senator La Follette performed 42 years ago a constructive service to government employes, the benefits of which are still available to them today.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington, Nov. 18—The Supreme Court, which, unfortunately, itself is a political agency, has just taken one gosh-amighty belt at a federal district judge who sits in Washington and seldom inspires compliments on his intellectual stateliness and judicial calm. In a decision written by Felix Frankfurter, the Supreme Court reversed a sentence of ten days in jail which Judge Alexander Holtzoff imposed on a lawyer for contempt.

The inferior quality of the federal judiciary by comparison with the standard which obtained before Roosevelt frankly declared his determination to debauch the bench is now notorious among lawyers and, to a growing extent, among laymen.

In the last few days two senators have declared in private discussions that the federal judiciary, as a whole and with exceptions so few as to be notable, is composed of men who think it is their duty to vindicate the Roosevelt-Truman "philosophy." Both of these senators are lawyers of long practice, both of them are Republicans and one has had many years' experience both as judge and prosecutor. Moreover, both said it was futile to look to the bar for initiative in fighting arrogance and political bigotry by judges because few lawyers will jeopardize the interests of their clients by antagonizing the prevalent type of judge.

That being granted, the Press is the next resort. But the press being also afraid of malicious judges or indifferent to issues until they are dramatized by shocking events, there seems to be no forum left but Congress. In that situation the same jumbled conflict arises which is now present in the struggle of the executive to dominate the legislative arm of the government.

Congress may, after long study and maneuvering, find some way to come to grips with the courts and reduce imperious majesty to dignity.

In the present case the decision is so emphatic as to suggest that self-respect and acknowledgement of the verities might prompt Holtzoff to weigh again his own qualifications.

This was a case in which a lawyer defending a doctor charged with crime got into a running fight with the judge and drew drastic punishment for treading on his honor's corns. We needn't clutter our study with the process which brought the outrage to the Supreme Court. It is sufficient to realize that a judge did resort to flagrant abuse of a lawyer defending a client from moral and professional destruction and finally reached beneath the bench for a two-bit ball-bat to belt the attorney for his courageous refusal to submit to abuse.

Frankfurter wrote that both the lawyer, by name Dorsey K. Offutt, and Holtzoff gave "great provocation". However, the Court of Appeals already had reversed the conviction of the defendant doctor on the ground that Holtzoff's behavior "precluded a fair and impartial trial."

Frankfurter tossed in an alarming proviso that in some cases a judge who gets the worst of repartee with a lawyer has "a rather extraordinary power to punish without the formalities required by the bill of rights."

Many federal judges do threaten political adversaries with jail for contempt today who have shown remarkable lenity to Communists not only in contempt issues but in the ordinary litigation of civil causes. In fewer words, the citizen takes an unwritten risk in opposing the immigration policies of Senator Herbert Lehman, for example, or in exposing undisclosed conduct of the holy Roosevelts.

"The power thus entrusted to a judge is unrelated to his personal sensibilities, be they tender or rugged," Frankfurter continued. "But judges also are human and may, in a human way, quite unwittingly identify offense to self with obstruction to law."

So a district judge should not sit in judgment where the offense charged is entangled with his personal feelings. Holtzoff "failed to represent the impersonal authority of the law" and "his comments indicating at times hostility, though under provocation, demonstrated a bias and lack of impartiality."

As examples, the Supreme Court appended colloquies between Holtzoff and Offutt. One ran as follows:

Offutt: I object to your honor yelling at me and raising your voice like that.

Holtzoff: Just a moment. If you say another word I will have the marshal stick a gag in your mouth.

At a further point, Holtzoff said: "You have forfeited your right to be treated with the courtesy that this court extends to all members of the bar."

The Supreme Court finally said Holtzoff's behavior "precluded that atmosphere of austerity which should especially dominate a criminal trial and which is indispensable for an appropriate sense of responsibility on the part of court."

Holtzoff's most abusive comment was addressed to the jury in the doctor's trial as the judge was discharging them. He then said: "You have been compelled to sit through a disgraceful and disreputable performance on the part of a lawyer who is unworthy of being a member of the legal profession. And I, as a member of the legal profession, blush that we should have such a specimen in our midst."

TOO MUCH MACHINE

It is time to limit the sphere of the machine. Its encroachment upon the realm of the human must cease. This becomes obvious with the announcement by an electronics expert that machines are now able to compose love letters.

The incredible feat is performed, according to Christopher Strachey, the expert, by feeding a scattered collection of endearing words into the electronic computer at Manchester University in England. The scrambled nouns, adjectives, adverbs and verbs are rearranged by the mechanical brain into complete sentences.

It must be admitted that these sentences are not such as any lover would want to send to his beloved. "Darling Sweetheart," reads one sentence, "you are my avid fellow feeling." Another goes, "My affection curiously clings to your passionate wish." As love letter sentences, they are crude. But they were written by a machine, and only represent a beginning. As the mechanical technique is developed, new and better love letters inevitably will be produced.

But is this good? Do we want machines writing us love letters? Certainly not. It's all very well for machines to take over the work load, to give us more leisure, but we don't want them—we can't permit them—to make love for us. After all, what would be left for us in our spare time? Obviously the spheres of men and machines must be defined, so that the latter will not intrude upon the former. Mechanically-produced love letters are too much. The direction must be reversed, lest man be overwhelmed by machines.

CLOTHING COLLECTION

The nationwide Thanksgiving clothing collection sponsored by the Catholic Bishops of the United States for victims of war, devastation and persecution opens Sunday in Catholic parishes from coast to coast.

In the New York Archdiocese there will be an envelope collection in all churches on Sunday followed by a clothing collection, which will continue to November 28.

The need for clothing, blankets and shoes still persists among the millions of refugees and civilians in Indochina, Europe, the Near East and in the recently flooded areas of Southern Italy.

Clothing and relief supplies will be distributed abroad to the neediest men, women and children without regard to race, color or creed.

Receiving depots will be staffed Thanksgiving week in Catholic schools and parish halls and several thousand volunteer workers will man these collection centers. The clothing will be baled and shipped to the areas of need.

Last year over ten million pounds of usable clothing, blankets, bedding and shoes were contributed to this one-week national appeal.

Every American can share what he has with the less fortunate overseas by participating in this great humanitarian effort.

EXPORTING KNOW-HOW

American "know-how", developed through years of doing business in the face of competition, can be used effectively in other countries to increase productivity and raise the standard of living. Proof of this may be found in the contribution made to France by an American department store operator named Mark Shaw.

By experimenting in France with American merchandising methods Shaw achieved amazing results. One clothing firm using his techniques increased wages by 15 per cent, cut the prices of the product 15 per cent, raised productivity by 30 per cent and sales volume by 40 per cent.

Shaw's services were lent to the government of France by our government. The results he achieved will encourage other French industries to try new ways of merchandising. In the long run this export of know-how may serve our allies better than any other form of help we have given them.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

PEKING'S CLAIM TO FORMOSA

The question of a successor state always arises after wars which are accompanied by revolutions. The successor states to the Austro-Hungarian Empire were a problem to the nations seeking a way to peace and, in a measure, that problem is not yet solved because some of those countries have been joined to the Soviet Universal State and one, at least, Yugoslavia, is Marxist but independent of the Kremlin, which poses a world problem.

In international relations, a new government does not exist legitimately for the nation that does not recognize it. John Bassett Moore, the pre-New Deal leading American authority on International Relations, held that premature recognition amounted to intervention in favor of the revolutionists or conquerors. He said:

". . . The recognition of the United States of America by France in 1778 was in reality an act of intervention, as is shown by Art. II. of the treaty. Great Britain recognized the Kingdom of Italy before Francis II, was entirely dispossessed."

It is also established that a recognition is absolute and irrevocable, unless restrictions or reservations are stated at the time of recognition. Furthermore, the United Stated has held that a change of government does not terminate existing treaties and that the successor state is responsible for them. At the Sixth International Conference of American States (1928), it was held:

"Treaties shall continue in effect even though the internal constitution of the contracting States has been modified. . . ."

The problem arises, is Communist China a successor state to the Republic of China with which we have binding treaties? The last government of the Republic of China has now taken refuge on the island of Formosa, having been replaced on the continent, after a civil war, by a Communist government. Even before the Communists had fully established themselves, certain countries, inccluding Great Britain, gave recognition to them, but the United States did not and the United Nations did not recognize Red China. Therefore, Red China, even though recognized by some countries as sovereign for China, was not admitted to the family of nations, whereas Formosa, from which recognition as sovereign of China was withdrawn by some countries, remained within the family of nations. For this condition, there have been some precedents in history.

Soviet Russia has accepted the position that Communist China is the legitimate successor state to the Republic of China and that the Thirty Years Treaty of Friendship and Alliance between Russia and China passes to Communist China. By virtue of this attitude, Soviet Russia recognizes Formosa as part of Communist China. It demands that the United Nations recognize Communist China as the successor state and that Communist China therefore succeed to the rights of the Republic of China under the Treaty of San Francisco (the Charter of the United Nations). The Thirty Years Treaty was accepted by Chiang Kai-shek because Franklin D. Roosevelt at Yalta (February, 1945) agreed to exact such a treaty from Chiang. T. V. Soong signed it (August, 1945) for China. While the Treaty was being negotiated and signed, Stalin was arranging for the Chinese Communists to become the successor state as is now clear.

SEATO was arranged partly as a defensive measure, partly to maintain the status quo in the East of Asia. Formosa was not invited to the SEATO Conference at Manila; neither was the Republic of Korea or Japan. The difficulties about inviting these countries arose from the recognition of Communist China by Great Britain and by France's capitulation at Geneva. Thus, while a defense is organized against further expansion by Communist China, the parties to the Conference are already bound by conflicting relationships with the government.

Should Communist China be recognized as the successor state to the Republic of China, there can be no legitimate basis for not including Formosa in Red China, as distressing as that would be for Americans. The compromise, which is presently being discussed, of double recognition, that is, of both Formosa and Red China, is untenable in theory and fact. Formosa is Chinese and to call the people on this island Formosans is to add insult to betrayal. It is not believable that such a compromise will satisfy either Mao Tze-tung or Chiang Kai-shek.

This problem will be solved by the course of events, one way or the other. The Chinese are accustomed to a long wait for history to work its wonders.

That Body of Yours

HYDRALAZINE IN HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

A few years ago there was much discussion about the sulpha drugs, penicillin and other antibiotics, then talk swung to ACTH and Cortisone, and now we are hearing a great deal about the drugs now in use to control or reduce high blood pressure. Trials on such drugs must be observed over long periods of time to obtain a fairly accurate estimate of just what they can accomplish.

In a review of a group of hypertensive (having high blood pressure) patients who had received continuous treatment with hydralazine as the sole agent used to reduce pressure, the previously noted fact that only about half the patients in a group will respond favorably to the drug was confirmed.

The favorable response in half the patients, however, was quite definite. There was a drop in the diastolic blood pressure (which is more important than the systolic pressure) and a sustained improvement in the heart, blood vessel and kidneys as compared with their state at the time the study was begun. The greatest improvement was found in kidney function; there was also a tendency to progressive improvement in the blood vessels of the brain. Also there was improvement in patients with congestive heart failure in that they could tolerate diets with a normal salt content, which is not usual.

"The most conclusive evidence of the effectiveness of hydralazine, however, is found in the death rate which showed only about one-fifth as many deaths among those who responded as among those who did not."

"Trial periods should continue for at least eight weeks before being considered complete. Treatment should begin with doses of 25 mg., four times a day, increased slowly until a total of 800 mg. a day is reached or the desired effect is obtained at a lower dosage. The dosage should then be reduced gradually to the minimum amount needed to maintain the best effect. Maintenance doses of 50 mg. four times a day seem to be satisfactory at present."

Patients should not be discouraged by the distressing side-effects often caused by this drug as they usually pass over in a short time and can be controlled in most cases although patients whose final response is very favorable may first have to pass through several weeks of discomfort.

It is felt that much of the dissatisfaction sometimes expressed with hydralazine is due to the large proportion of patients who do not respond to it, impatience in not getting immediate benefit, paying too much attention to the side-effects of the drug, and not having a very definite schedule of treatment.

A New Twist to the Political Baby-Kissing Act

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Three Latin-American countries now celebrate the U. S. Thanksgiving Day.

The president of Paraguay, Dr. Frederico Chaves, saw and thought well of the Thanksgiving Day celebration given by Americans at the U. S. Information Agency post in Asuncion in 1952. So he proclaimed by special decree that his country thereafter would also celebrate the last Thursday in November in thanks to God.

In the first Thanksgiving Day celebration by Paraguay, last year, a solemn high Mass was celebrated in Asuncion cathedral.

Brazil and Cuba have also issued similar Thanksgiving Day proclamations. It is hoped that observance will spread to other American countries.

WHEN SEN. William E. Knowland left California to come to Washington day after election, the result of the Senate race was still uncertain, and he didn't know what his job was going to be in the next Congress. "As the returns came in, my position as majority leader teetered, and finally on arrival in Washington," he said, "I tottered into being a minority leader."

RE-ELECTED Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D., N. M.) came back to Washington telling of a talk he made to some 300 farmers on the drouth relief situation. As he began to speak, it began to rain. "The downpour hit the side of the building and made a terrible racket," says Senator Anderson. "Finally one fellow in the back of the room yelled out, 'I wish the speaker would talk louder. This damn rain is making so much noise I can't hear what you're saying about the drouth.'"

SENATOR - ELECT Richard Neuberger of Oregon used to be a newspaperman himself and for a number of years he has augmented his meager pay as a member of the Oregon legislature by free-lance writing.

One of Neuberger's pet crusades has been to have the capital of the United States moved from Washington to some place in the west. During the war he served as an army captain at the Pentagon and came to despise Washington summer weather.

So at the end of the war, one of the first pieces he wrote was for the New York Times Sunday magazine. It said that the capital should be moved to Denver permanently.

Anyway, this piece of Neuberger's was printed along about Labor Day. The front pages of the same day's paper carried story and pictures of a one-foot snowfall in Denver the night before. The weather in Washington at the time was beautiful. And that ended the Neuberger crusade to move the capital out west.

JUDY HOLLIDAY, of Broadway and Hollywood fame, came to Washington the other day to receive an award from Treasury Department for making a four-minute Savings Bond Drive film for free. The award was presented in Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey's office.

For the cameramen, Miss Holliday sat at the secretary's big desk and make like she was signing papers. As she got up, Secretary Humphrey said to her, "Now if we're a million dollars short tomorrow, it will be because of one of those papers you've signed, and I'll have to turn you over to the FBI and Department of Justice."

Judy smiled, but just as she was leaving the office, who should walk in but Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr.

"Gee!" said the blonde, not missing her cue. "They sure go to work on you fast here, don't they?"

Modestly the A. G. told about how fast he was, and how it was necessary to show a lot of speed to keep up with crime.

"But I just did it!" exclaimed Judy.

So they all posed for the cameraman again, with Mr. Brownell in the picture to make it look like he'd caught a crook.

SEN. LYNDON B. JOHNSON (D. Tex.), who will be majority leader in the next Congress, admits that he has never been able to get rid of his nickname, "Landslide Lyndon," after winning his 1948 primary by 87 votes. If anything, the name will stick tighter if he can get elected majority leader by a couple of votes.

"In Texas we voted for Ike in '52 and got our tidelands back," cracks Johnson. "All we asked for this November was forgiveness and a Democratic Congress."

SPRY SEN. Theodore Francis Green (D., R. I.), who won reelection despite his 87 years, now challenges whether he is the oldest member. "Some of my colleagues stopped listing their birth dates in the congressional directory a dozen years ago," he charges.

Senators Real Thin-Skinned Now Is Opinion of Wheeler, Once Tough Examiner

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 19—Former Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Democrat, who was one of the toughest of the cross-examiners on congressional committees in his time, met this correspondent the other day and remarked:

"What a spectacle the Senate is making of itself these days! How thin-skinned they are! Why, in the days of La Follette and Borah and Jim Reed we wouldn't have spent our time worrying about what one Senator said in denouncing another."

The elder Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in a Senate speech, for example, called Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, Republican, "a cringing creature" and added that "God Almighty had given him a hump on his back, crouching, cringing, un-American and unmanly."

Mr. Kellogg had presented a request to the Senate subcommittee on Privileges and Elections calling for the expulsion of La Follette on a charge of "sedition and disloyalty."

No censure resolution was ever proposed for any such remark. Indeed, the same Senator La Follette not only defied this Senate subcommittee by refusing to appear before it for cross-examination but on another occasion he did exactly what Senator McCarthy is being condemned for—he invited thousands of federal employes to disregard an executive order and to give him information about what was happening inside the executive branch of the government.

It is sufficient to realize that a judge did resort to flagrant abuse of a lawyer defending a client from moral and professional destruction and finally reached beneath the bench for a two-bit ball-bat to belt the attorney for his courageous refusal to submit to abuse.

Frankfurter wrote that both the lawyer, by name Dorsey K. Offutt, and Holtzoff gave "great provocation". However, the Court of Appeals already had reversed the conviction of the defendant doctor on the ground that Holtzoff's behavior "precluded a fair and impartial trial."

Frankfurter tossed in an alarming proviso that in some cases a judge who gets the worst of repartee with a lawyer has "a rather extraordinary power to punish without the formalities required by the bill of rights."

Many federal judges do threaten political adversaries with jail for contempt today who have shown remarkable lenity to Communists not only in contempt issues but in the ordinary litigation of civil causes. In fewer words, the citizen takes an unwritten risk in opposing the immigration policies of Senator Herbert Lehman, for example, or in exposing undisclosed conduct of the holy Roosevelts.

"The power thus entrusted to a judge is unrelated to his personal sensibilities, be they tender or rugged," Frankfurter continued. "But judges also are human and may, in a human way, quite unwittingly identify offense to self with obstruction to law."

So a district judge should not sit in judgment where the offense charged is entangled with his personal feelings. Holtzoff "failed to represent the impersonal authority of the law" and "his comments indicating at times hostility, though under provocation, demonstrated a bias and lack of impartiality."

As examples, the Supreme Court appended colloquies between Holtzoff and Offutt. One ran as follows:

Offutt: I object to your honor yelling at me and raising your voice like that.

Holtzoff: Just a moment. If you say another word I will have the marshal stick a gag in your mouth.

At a further point, Holtzoff said: "You have forfeited your right to be treated with the courtesy that this court extends to all members of the bar."

The Supreme Court finally said Holtzoff's behavior "precluded that atmosphere of austerity which should especially dominate a criminal trial and which is indispensable for an appropriate sense of responsibility on the part of court."

Holtzoff's most abusive comment was addressed to the jury in the doctor's trial as the judge was discharging them. He then said: "You have been compelled to sit through a disgraceful and disreputable performance on the part of a lawyer who is unworthy of being a member of the legal profession. And I, as a member of the legal profession, blush that we should have such a specimen in our midst."

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The Ruminator would like to talk this week about "timing of economic trends." Ever since Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations" was published, in 1776, students of economics and writers on financial, social, and business affairs have attempted to do three things in none of which have they been very successful.

What they have tried to do is to diagnose, predict, and prescribe.

Perhaps in the field of economic diagnosis there has been more success than in predictions and prescriptions.

HOWEVER, even in diagnosis of economic trends one must cynically add that as often as not the accurate diagnosis has come AFTER the event, not before. That is to say, one can look back at events which have transpired and say, "ah, you see, if credit had not been allowed to become over-expanded (or some other "wrong" development), we would not have had this depression."

Even when events have been foreseen which might cause trouble economically, there have seldom been found ways to correct them.

You therefore find predictions going haywire because of the failure to recognize that although conditions point in a given direction there is no way to ascertain whether corrective measures will work, and secondly how people will react. This latter thought is perhaps the most unpredictable of all. You may reason out the statistical factors in a given situation and fail in your forecasts because of the human elements involved. To emphasize this thought let us put it into an epigram: Your diagnosis may be correct, while your prognosis is wrong—all because you cannot predict what people will do under the changing circumstances which you foresee.

SIMILARLY with prescriptions for economic ills. The economic doctors may feel they know what should be prescribed, but for various reasons — frequently political—the prescriptions cannot be fulfilled.

The result of these intangible factors is that "timing" of economic trends is practically impossible. Occasionally, an astute economist will hit it on the nose so to speak, and call the turn of an economic trend accurately. But I think it is safe to say that this is a conspicuous exception rather than the rule.

This discussion has a purpose in these columns, which are devoted to the theory of contrary opinion.

The Ruminator has learned, over a long period of years, that the contrary viewpoint is almost always sure to be "ahead of time." I'm referring now to a contrary opinion concerning a reversal of economic trends.

FOR INSTANCE, during a prolonged depression a contrarian will commence thinking constructively probably quite a while before the actual bottom of the depression is reached. You can see why this is. As a depression drags on, pessimism and statistics both get more deeply mired. It gets to a point where people wonder if there will ever be a recovery. The contrarian knows that the recovery will set in all right, but he cannot tell you when. He recognizes the numerous characteristics—both statistical and psychological—which have to do with the change from depression to "revival" and has learned that the psychological factors (the unpredictable factors) may take less or more time to work out than he can estimate.

But in any event, in economic changes it is better to be ahead of time than behind time. One can then plan thoughtfully for the expected oncoming shifts and not get caught in a frantic last-minute effort to alter plans and programs.

This brings us up to the present.

From a contrary-opinion standpoint, one must commence to doubt the over-all optimism and predictions of high activity which now fill our business reading.

AT THE SAME TIME, we have to recognize that the momentum of current economic conditions, aided and abetted by a socio-political outlook that is liberal in its influence, may well maintain rising trends for some little time. But for how long, is anybody's guess. Nevertheless, the contrary approach to the problem is to look for developments which will mark the end of the economic boom and bring on an ensuing slump.

This may take a matter of months, but as remarked above, a contrary approach must by its nature be ahead of time. But it prevents one being "too late" and that policy avoids losses and serious disappointments.

Dinner was a little late. A guest asked the hostess to play something. Seating herself at the piano, the good woman executed a Chopin nocturne with precision. She finished, and there was still an interval of waiting to be bridged. In the grim silence she turned to an old gentleman on her right and said:

Hostess — Would you like a sonata before going in to dinner?

He gave a start of surprise and pleasure as he responded briskly:

Man—Why, yes, thanks! I had a couple on my way here, but I could stand another.

Young man (to draft board)—But you can't turn me down—I've proposed to 3 girls, told my boss what I think of him, and sold my car!—Geo Wolfe, American Mag.

Daughter—Did you ever hear anything so beautiful? (as she turned a new swing record on the Victrola).

Father—No. The nearest thing I ever heard to it was when a truck loaded with empty milk can had a collision with another truck that was loaded with hogs.

It looks like Kingston will change greatly in the next couple of years, with the super highway and the bridge and the IBM plant bringing folks to this locality who perhaps never heard of our 300-year-old city before. I see Sarasota, Fla., recently finished a $22,000,000 Sunshine Skyway Bridge over Tampa Bay. They call it an engineering masterpiece for it crosses 15 miles of open water with a breathtaking center span of 155 feet above the water over the main ship channel, no doubt a major tourist attraction. What always interested me about Sarasota was the winter quarters of Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus which parks there between December and March, which has of course made the place world famous. It is said that a quarter of a million people drop their coins in the turnstiles to watch the making of the cirucs shows. The late John Ringling arranged for the famous John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art which houses the world's greatest collection of Rubens' works to the State of Florida. The Ringling Venetian palace is another attraction as well as the Museum of American Circus. It seems that other attractions were built up like Horn's Cars of Yesterday, an antique auto museum, housing 65 cars from the years of 1898 up, all in running condition.

It's from little cities like Kingston that Ringling built up his vast fortune. I remember when the Ringling Bros. Barnum circus used to come to town It was no small event for those who liked circuses and did my father like them. He liked them enough to break up his morning sleep and rout me out of bed 6 or earlier in the morning so we could get up and see the circus unpack. We were not the only ones there. Around us stood many prominent men and their children. Very few women though gave up their morning sleep to watch mammoth elephants hammer in stakes for the circus tents. Everything always seemed so orderly and not a motion wasted. Men would run here and there, do a little here and there and little by little the big tent would go up without a hitch. It was quite wonderful to see. Many of the tamed animals were out on leash or rope eating, unmindful of the excitement around them. Many of the cages with wild animals were closed. As I remember, the big circus had its own train cars and unloaded at leisure. There also was the kitchen for the help outdoors under canvass, and whatever they ate smelled good. Once I got up there, I felt it was worth getting up. Of course, then we had the circus parade to look forward to, and the show in the afternoon. My father always closed the store and we went. No doubt many folks like my father who were able to retire early in life went down and settled in Sarasota so they could watch the big circus all winter. That must be wonderful.

Of course I understand now due to car traffic on streets in all cities, circus parades have gone out of style. Instead of that kids have comic books and television. It is difficult to describe a circus parade to kids who never saw one, because they would not believe that such things existed years ago on our streets. That's just for fairy tale books for babies, they think, silken clad ladies riding on elephant's heads and chariot races around arenas.

ENGINEERS OBSERVE ELECTROL PRODUCTION—Prior to a dinner of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Wednesday in the Governor Clinton Hotel, a tour to observe production methods was made at the plant of Electrol Incorporated, 85 Grand street, by 31 men divided into groups. In the one above (left to right) studying a jigborer are Norman Rowe, Electrol, guide for the study; Winfield Lynn, Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen; John Ostrander, Hercules; Maurice Stephan, IBM; Edward Lefren, Hercules; Robert B. Taylor, IBM, and Frank V. Kedenburg Jr., Highland, representative for air conditioning units. Two speakers from Electrol addressed 50 in attendance at the engineers' dinner. John F. Ceccarelli, manager of engineering development, talked on landing gear, and John Frain, project engineer, on aircraft hydraulics. The firm has been supplying the government since World War 2 and is also filling orders from commercial aircraft companies. Approximately 500 are employed at Electrol. (Freeman photo)

School Notes

New Paltz, Nov. 19—It was announced at the regular school board meeting Monday night that the water line had been changed in preparation for construction of the new high school addition.

Frank Bugar, principal, said the average attendance at adult education classes was about 300, which he termed "good."

In observance of book week the faculty met to look over a wide variety, both new and old.

On Tuesday Alfredo Cavalieri, a well-known violinist, played at assembly in the high school.

Bugar told the board that the seniors receive a monthly guidance bulletin, this month's containing information on college scholarships.

Bids on the school addition will be opened at 8 p. m. Saturday. Nineteen bids have been submitted.

Attendance records in the high school and other district schools has been reported as follows: Village school, 91.68; Gardiner School, 97.62; Plutarch School, 92; Tuttletown, 94; high school freshmen, 85.88; sophomores, 97.47; juniors, 95.62, and seniors, 95.18.

Webster MacDonald was granted a day's leave to attend a meeting of the Mid-Hudson Industrial Arts Teachers Association of which he is president.

It was reported that soil boring tests cost $250.

Bugar recommended that a physical education teacher for girls be hired as soon as possible. He was authorized by the board to interview applicants at Cortland.

Democracy Test Set for Dec. 10

The eighth annual Voice of Democracy contest for students of high schools in Ulster county will be held at 8:45 a. m. Friday, Dec. 10, at Kingston High School.

The contest, sponsored by the National Association of Radio-Television Broadcasters, The Radio-Television Manufacturers Association and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is a broadcast script writing and voice competition.

The local contest is being sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and Station WKNY.

The sole purpose of the contest is to give youth of America an opportunity to consider seriously and to speak positively in behalf of the blessings, freedoms and opportunities traditional to this country.

Last year's contest was won by Miss Joyce Halloran, a senior at the Academy of St. Ursula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Halloran, 88 West Chester street.

Miss Halloran based her prize winning entry on a letter from a father fighting in Korea to his son touching upon the privileges his boy has living in a democracy.

The winning script will be transcribed and forwarded to Albany for the New York state finals. Finalists from this level will compete through transcription in the national finals whereupon the winner will receive a trip to the national capital, a tour through historic Williamsburg, Va., a scholarship check and a television set.

Frederick Coykendall Dies . . .

tion and the committee on finance that he was made a permanent trustee in 1922 and in 1933 became trustee chairman..

THE FORMER university trustee board chairman also served as treasurer and member of the board of governors of Columbia University Club and was later president of the college alumni and from 1917 to 1919 acted as president of the Alumni Federation of the university.

During his active career at the university, Mr. Coykendall officiated at the installation of two of Columbia's presidents, proffering the historic charters and keys to President Dwight D. Eisenhower when he assumed the presidency of the university in 1948 and again to Dr. Grayson Kirk, who became president in 1953.

REGARDED AS a top officer of publishing, banking and shipping enterprises, Mr. Coykendall became associated with the Columbia University Press in 1921, was named director in 1926 and president in 1946. He resigned this post in 1953, becoming board chairman.

An ardent book collector, Mr. Coykendall helped to make the Columbia University Press one of the foremost publishing houses of the country. He gave the university most of his 6,000 volumes of poetry, early periodicals and 17th and 18th century romances. He later became president of the Grolier Club, an organization for the study and promotion of arts pertaining to book production, from 1935 to 1939.

His interest in the literary field helped him in his own field of writing.

HE WAS THE AUTHOR of A Note on the Monk, and compiler of Arthur Rackham: A List of Books Illustrated by Him. His articles on M. G. Lewis in The Colophon, 1935, was cited in the Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature as an authority on the subject.

Mr. Coykendall also became widely interested in hospital work, and served with Dr. Samuel Lambert and John G. Millburn on the committee which negotiated the agreement with the trustees of the Presbyterian Hospital to form the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center.

He also worked with representatives of Puerto Rico to bring about the School of Tropical Medicine in Puerto Rico under the university's auspices.

The former Kingston native also served as chairman of the special committee which arranged for the transferring of New York School of Dentistry to Columbia as well as the School of Dental and Oral Surgery to the Medical Center.

In 1926 Mr. Coykendall received the Class of 1889 gold medal for achievement at Columbia and in 1940 Hamilton College awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws. He had been named to receive the 1955 Alexander Hamilton medal from the Alumni Association for "distinguished service."

As a member of the New York State Chamber of Comerce, Mr. Coykendall was a member of the New York Board of Trade, Commerce and Industry Association of the Port of New York. He was a trustee of the New York State Historical Association and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Traffic Mishap Fatal

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—An 11-year-old Bronx boy died in Fordham Hospital early today, four hours after he sprinted into the side of a moving truck a block from his home. The youngster, Joseph Carbone, of 4287 Boston Road, suffered internal injuries in the 10 p. m. accident, at McOwen avenue and Boston Road, a few blocks from the city line. The driver of the truck identified as Arthur Sikes, of 915 Harris street, Burlington, N. C., was not held.

It requires 39,000 gallons of water to produce a ton of paper.

Death Threat Is

going to get shot in the —— head." The caller then hung up.

About an hour later, three windows of the newspaper were smashed, also with chunks of concrete apparently taken from a paving job being done across the street.

A flare, such as used to warn persons of building construction going on, was tossed into the office. The flare continued to burn but did not damage.

A bag of asphalt also thrown into the newspaper office bore a note reading: "Get rid of Chambers, you."

Chambers, about 54, whose home (582 Palisade avenue) is located near a police station, said he had "no idea" who would want to harm him.

A veteran of World War 1, Chambers is in command of the city-wide auxiliary police unit dealing with civil defense. He lives with his wife and daughter, Arden, 21.

Less Than Half

In 1900 nearly two-thirds of U. S. men over 65 were working or hunting jobs, but in 1950 less than half were doing so, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

THE OCEAN HAS NO PITY—An LCM, left, has a rough time battling stormy waters as it assists Marines in placing a metal raised road from an LCT, right, to the shore of Onslow Beach. More than 20,000 Marines and Navy men took part in the two-day maneuver near Camp Lejeune, N. C. The "Exercise Phibex," whose estimated cost was $250,000 to $500,000, was criticized by a Marine combat officer as "silly" because there was so much make-believe about it.

Traffic Mishap Fatal

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—An 11-year-old Bronx boy died in Fordham Hospital early today, four hours after he sprinted into the side of a moving truck a block from his home. The youngster, Joseph Carbone, of 4287 Boston Road, suffered internal injuries in the 10 p. m. accident, at McOwen avenue and Boston Road, a few blocks from the city line. The driver of the truck identified as Arthur Sikes, of 915 Harris street, Burlington, N. C., was not held.

It requires 39,000 gallons of water to produce a ton of paper.

going to get shot in the —— head." The caller then hung up.

About an hour later, three windows of the newspaper were smashed, also with chunks of concrete apparently taken from a paving job being done across the street.

A flare, such as used to warn persons of building construction going on, was tossed into the office. The flare continued to burn but did not damage.

A bag of asphalt also thrown into the newspaper office bore a note reading: "Get rid of Chambers, you."

Chambers, about 54, whose home (582 Palisade avenue) is located near a police station, said he had "no idea" who would want to harm him.

A veteran of World War 1, Chambers is in command of the city-wide auxiliary police unit dealing with civil defense. He lives with his wife and daughter, Arden, 21.

proved the plan and offered property to the county at the token cost of $1.

Architect Harry Halverson of Kingston was engaged to prepare plans for the extensive remodeling, and the resultant infirmary as it stands today is a tribute to his vision, as well as to the know-how of the contractors who did the work and the excellence of the builders who erected the original building 75 years ago.

EVEN THOUGH the original cost estimate of $250,000 rose to nearly $300,000, the result is an infirmary at one-third the cost of an entirely new building of equal capacity.

Except in the case of a few specialized items, such as the elevator, the work was done entirely by local contractors. The list includes:

Henry H. Swart & Son, general contractor; Thomas Kennedy & Son, masonry; John D. Krusher, Sr., electrical work; Leninger & Cwill, plumbing and heating; Otis Elevator Company, elevator; Nicholson Sprinkler Co., sprinkler system; The Arkay Company, kitchen equipment; Leo Yonnetti, painting; Donald C. Parish, asphalt tile; Charles D. Fitzgerald, ceramic tile; Herzog's, hardware; J. A. Cassidy & Son, Inc., refrigeration; Henry A. Olson, Inc., roofing; Jay Steel Products, Inc., work.

An IBM nurses' call system has been installed.

A staff of 56 has been assembled for the infirmary, with more to be added as the institution reaches full operation.

Harry Blake, formerly of Brooklyn General Hospital, has been named superintendent, with Mrs. Hilda Yerry, R.N., as supervisor.

REGISTERED NURSES on the staff are Mrs. Gertrude Schroder, Mrs. Dorothy Gunzelman, Miss Margaret Molyneaux, Mrs. Alice McCormack and Mrs. Gladys Anderson.

Licensed practical nurses are Mrs. Ethel Palen, Mrs. Lucie Baker, Mrs. Marion Overbaugh and Mrs. Dorothy Munroe. There will also be 21 nurses' aides.

Harry Oefinger has been named superintendent of maintenance, and will have a staff of six.

Mrs. Mary Gennarelli is chef and Dorothy Burkowske, dietitian. Arthur Snyder and Blanche R. Brown are assistant cooks, and there are four food service helpers.

Miss Sara Kocsis is account clerk.

THE TRANSFORMATION effected can best be appreciated by seeing the building itself, and Commissioner Murray has arranged to have the building open for public inspection Saturday and Sunday between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Members of the Ulster County Committee of the State Charities Aid Association will serve as hosts and hostesses. Regular staff members will also be on hand to greet the public during the open house.

A mere listing of some of the new facilities gives an idea of the scope of the project. A new steam plant, incinerator and hot water heating system has been installed; an elevator is in operation; a completely new kitchen equipped on the lowest floor, diet kitchens on each floor, nurses' stations, utility rooms, a solarium on each floor; sprinkler system throughout, acoustic tile ceiling, rooms of different pastel shades to relieve the monotony, ceramic tile baths, new wiring and plumbing, and a parking area on the grounds.

PATIENTS WILL begin moving in next week, with about 30 being admitted at a time until the building gets into full operation, Commissioner Murray said.

Selection will be made from among county charges already being cared for, with first preference going to those most in need of such facilities as are provided at the new infirmary, he said.

That there is immediate need for the infirmary is testified to by Commissioner Murray, who points out that there are presently 200 persons in private nursing homes who are in the care of the Welfare Department.

In addition to the new infirmary, the county will continue to operate its 25-bed infirmary at the County Home in New Paltz.

Attention has been focused increasingly in recent years on the problem of caring for the aging population, not only here but in the entire country. Advances in medicine have resulted in increasing life spans.

Enthusiastic over the public service that can be rendered by the county infirmary, Commissioner Murray points out that many of those who will become patients were once substantial citizens and taxpayers. "Certainly, it is our responsibility to ease the burden of their declining years," he said.

Alcoholics Group Meeting Called

Woodstock, Nov. 18—Alcoholics Anoymous will hold its initial meeting in this village Wednesday, Nov. 24, at 8 p. m. A number of local residents, who are members of the fellowship, have formed a new group and have taken advantage of the facilities of the Dutch Reformed Church which have been offered by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd. Hereafter, regular meetings will be held each Wednesday night in the basement of the church.

It is planned at the first meeting to acquaint the public with the work of Alcoholics Anonymous. Invitations are being sent to clergymen, doctors, police and county officials, editors of newspapers, and social workers. In addition a cordial invitation to attend this particular meeting is being extended to everyone in Woodstock and vicinity.

The essential purpose is to give the AA story in its straightest form without equivocation.

MEMBERS of Alcoholics Anonymous are men and women who at one time in their lives were classified as hopeless alcoholics. Through the program of AA they have recovered from their malady. They have found a way of life which no longer compels them to drink. These people band together in groups, or sometimes work alone, in the aim to help fellow drinkers recover from the disease of alcoholism.

Not being reformers, they offer their help only to those who want it. The only qualification to join the Fellowship is a sincere desire to stop drinking. There are no dues or fees and no application or references necessary.

The first member of Alcoholics Anonymous recovered in 1934. Since that time the movement has grown with a rapidity that is difficult to believe. Over a quarter of a million men and women today are members of Alcoholics Anonymous. It is no longer an organization peculiar to the United States. Hundreds of groups are to be found in Canada and European countries. More than two-thirds of these people have laid a foundation for permanent sobriety despite the fact that many were at one time considered incurable.

THE PROGRAM of Alcoholics Anonymous is one of social and spiritual rehabilitation.

Crafts Shop Has Big Selection

Woodstock, Nov. 18—For the convenience of out-of-town customers, the stock of articles at Crafts Co-operative shop has been replenished early in the season so that a complete selection is available while the roads are still clear of ice and snow, it has been announced.

Philip Weller has a varied selection of turned wooden bowls in wild and sweet cherry, mahogany, maple, birch and black walnut, in sizes from individual salad bowls to large serving bowls and platters. These are all impregnated with a permanent finish to withstand all different types of use.

Alice Fisher has designed and created an entire new line of ceramic jewelry, including pins and earrings in an appealing new red. The range of fine hand-woven linen sets by Angela von den Driech has been enlarged to include moderate priced sets for two, as well as individual mats and napkins for breakfast trays, etc., sets for four, six and eight, and a selection of her striking and elaborate banquet cloths. Edith Cook, Mary D. Smith, Bessie Stowall and Gretchen Smith have also added to their stock of table sets making it possible for every price range and taste to be satisfied.

Eleanor McCaffrey has produced a new selection of "winter enamels"—cuff links and earrings of brilliant colors, ideal accessories for winter suits and dresses. Her line of silver jewelry has also been enlarged with new designs and unusual stones and settings.

David Donaldson is showing a variety of new designs and shapes in his ceramic—hors d'oeuvre trays, salad servers, salt and pepper shakers and other pieces. For younger customers Dolores Christiana has contributed gay belts, ear warmers and children's slippers of felt and sequins. There are handwoven ties, exquisite candlesticks, ashtrays, cigarette boxes in copper and brass, carved wooden canes, ceramic bowls and vases and many other items now in stock at the Crafts Co-operative shop which is located next to the post office in Woodstock.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 18—There are several reasons for the present epidemic of mergers. In some cases, taxes are the chief consideration; in other cases they are to reduce costs; and often the cause is to secure additional financing.

BUT ONE VERY potent cause is to be able to afford more advertising, which—in this very competitive era—is the life of trade. To understand what I mean, let me remind readers that a full-page advertisement of television sets in this or any other newspaper would be the same price to the great Radio Corporation of America as to some small company which might be manufacturing a better TV set. In the case of a 2-page color spread in Life Magazine the price would be approximately $50,000 for one week! This is a drop in the bucket to R.C.A., but it is a cost which small companies cannot meet.

This is a problem not only to the small company, but also to a medium-sized company with several products to advertise. Successful advertising depends upon continuous advertising. With one product this is far more practical, more efficient, and much less expensive. Let me illustrate by referring to two good but competitive candy products.

THE LIFE SAVERS Corporation has practically only one product, with which every reader is acquainted and for which the company appropriates annually about $1,000,000 for advertising. The New England Confectionery Company (trade name Necco) has 20 different products. This means that if Necco should appropriate $1,000,000 for ad-advertising, this would need to be divided by 20 products. No one of the 20 products might get enough advertising to enable it to be profitable. In fact, by one law of advertising, each product would get only 1/30th of the result instead of 1/20th. This can be remedied only by a reduction in the number of items, or by a consolidation with other candy manufacturers.

OF COURSE, Life Savers would not consider such a consolidation. A merger would have to be with a candy company having similar competitive difficulties but duplicate manufacturing facilities. Then, two competitive products could be marketed under a joint name—without any loss of good will. The machines which were the most efficient would be used for manufacturing the products—working on two or three shifts of labor. Operating expenses would be greatly reduced, while each product would get double the present advertising allotment.

I AM CONTINUALLY asked why the stocks of some companies—like General Electric, for instance—sell so much higher than stocks of some smaller electric companies which are not well known but may perhaps make a better product. I do not know all the answers to this question, but this I do know: The price of the stock of almost all companies (Hershey is an exception) parallels closely the amount spent upon advertising.

Not only do large advertising appropriations create more business and more profits, but investors like to buy the stocks of companies which they see advertising each week. This not only applies to the prosperity of individual companies; but also to the prosperity of the nation as a whole. When national advertising falls off, business falls off and unemployment increases. I forecast that the day may come when the government will subsidize advertising during a business depression.

NOT ONLY WILL we see many more mergers amongst manufacturing concerns, but the epidemic will spread to retail stores. Drive down the business street of any city and—with a critical eye—notice the vast number of small retailers. Eighty per cent are barely making a living. When depression comes, the mortality amongst retailers could be great.

Therefore, I urge retailers to consider mergers. This especially applies to shops which carry the same items and are near one another. Retailers who have no free parking space nearby will be the first to merge. Bankers reading this column could be very helpful in bringing these needed mergers about. One closing thought: Read your Bible—Proverbs, Chapter 16, Verse 18. This gives the cause of most business failures.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Do Some Figuring Before You Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

How would you play today's hand if your opponents behaved themselves like normal human beings? The chances are that you'd play it with great lack of success.

East wins the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returns the suit. You win with the king of diamonds and lead the ace of trumps. You look suspiciously at the fall of the five of trumps from the East hand, but you can't really be sure that this card is a singleton.

The average expert would hesitate for a few seconds and then lead a trump to dummy's king. The purpose of the hesitation is mainly to show that you thought about the right play in case the king happens to be the wrong play; or to show how much deep thought went into the right play in case the king happens to be the right play.

In short, you would have a talking point when the hand was discussed; but you would still be minus 100 points on the score-pad.

This didn't happen when the hand was actually played. The defenders gave the show away, just as many bridge players tend to do.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit with an expression of intense hope. South won with the king of diamonds, and West followed suit, of course, with the three of diamonds. Thereupon, East slumped back in his chair and looked as though he were ready to concede the rest.

West was not ready to concede, of course, but he didn't want to make his keen interest in the hand too obvious. He just glared at his partner and said jovially, "Let's finish the hand out."

None of this was lost on the declarer. It was clear to him that East was ready to give up and that West wasn't. When his ace of trumps dropped the five from the East hand, South had a very accurate idea of the trump situation.

Just to make sure, South led the queen of diamonds from his hand. If West ruffed, dummy would overruff and thus eliminate any trump threat. West actually discarded a club, but the failure to ruff was a dead give-away. South promptly led a trump from his hand and finessed dummy's ten, thus assuring his slam contract.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Do Some Figuring Before You Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

How would you play today's hand if your opponents behaved themselves like normal human beings? The chances are that you'd play it with great lack of success.

East wins the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returns the suit. You win with the king of diamonds and lead the ace of trumps. You look suspiciously at the fall of the five of trumps from the East hand, but you can't really be sure that this card is a singleton.

The average expert would hesitate for a few seconds and then lead a trump to dummy's king. The purpose of the hesitation is mainly to show that you thought about the right play in case the king happens to be the wrong play; or to show how much deep thought went into the right play in case the king happens to be the right play.

In short, you would have a talking point when the hand was discussed; but you would still be minus 100 points on the scorepad.

This didn't happen when the hand was actually played. The defenders gave the show away, just as many bridge players tend to do.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit with an expression of intense hope. South won with the king of diamonds, and West followed suit, of course, with the three of diamonds. Thereupon, East slumped back in his chair and looked as though he were ready to concede the rest.

West was not ready to concede, of course, but he didn't want to make his keen interest in the hand too obvious. He just glared at his partner and said jovially, "Let's finish the hand out."

None of this was lost on the declarer. It was clear to him that East was ready to give up and that West wasn't. When his ace of trumps dropped the five from the East hand, South had a very accurate idea of the trump situation.

Just to make sure, South led the queen of diamonds from his hand. If West ruffed, dummy would overruff and thus eliminate any trump threat. West actually discarded a club, but the failure to ruff was a dead giveaway. South promptly led a trump from his hand and finessed dummy's ten, thus assuring his slam contract.

Founding Reviewed At 40th Anniversary Garden Club Meeting

A paper, prepared by Mrs. Harold F. King, dealing with the gardens and personalities of early members of the Ulster Garden Club, was the highlight of the club's fortieth anniversary, celebrated Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Robert F. Moseley, 103 Albany avenue. Mrs. King is historian of the club.

Founded in 1914, the Ulster Garden Club was elected to membership in the Garden Club of America the following year, the North Country Garden Club of Long Island and the Garden Club of Orange and Dutchess Counties being its sponsors.

The club's first officers were: Honorary president, Mrs. Julia Dillon; president, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker; first vice-president, Mrs. Williams Carter; second vice-president, Mrs. George Washburn; third vice-president, Mrs. Charles Spaulding; secretary, Miss Mary Haldane; and treasurer, Mrs. George Hutton. Of the original founders of the club the only one who is still on the active list is Mrs. William Warren, of Hurley, known to many Garden Club of America members because she served on their board for three years and was chairman of the nominating committee for one year.

In her paper Mrs. King spoke of the fact that the Ulster Garden Club, in its early days as well as now, was interested in both civic and national affairs and gave entertainments in support of the Red Cross and other national projects during World War 1. On the civic side was a ball for the Kingston Hospital, a complete redesign and replanting of Academy Park, and more recently a landscaping project on the grounds of the Senate House.

Following Mrs. King's reading of her paper, tea was served, with Mrs. William Warren and Mrs. Frances Leggett pouring.

Junior Leagues of Kingston, Poughkeepsie Hostesses to Regional Session at Vassar

The Junior League of Kingston was co-hostess with the Poughkeepsie group for the Region 2 Conference of the Associated Junior Leagues of America held this week in Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Raymond W. Garraghan is president of the Kingston League.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt addressed sixty delegates of the leagues at the close of a tour of the Rosevelt Memorial Library, Hyde Park, Tuesday.

SPEAKING ON THE position of women in America as compared with those of India, Mrs. Roosevelt observed that the women of India recently stepped from their homes and entered the world. In comparing the work of American and Indian women, the well-traveled speaker noted that American women visitors to the land report they are shocked at the workers in the volunteer system of the country.

Of interest was Mrs. Roosevelt's mention that various menus are required in her household when visitors from foreign countries are dinner guests. Much care must be taken in preparation of these menus to meet the customs of the individual countries.

A special feature of the program given Wednesday evening, at Vassar Alumnae House, session locale, was the performance of the last act of Red Riding Hood, the current Children's Theatre play of the local league. Taking part were Mmes. Amos Newcombe, Edward Lefren, Elbert MacFadden and Robert Cline.

The Poughkeepsie league also presented scenes from their production, Box of Smiles. Selections were given by the Night Owls, singing group from Vassar.

Social activities of the three-day conference included the tea given Tuesday afternoon at Top House, home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Potter Sr., Cream street, Hyke Park; and a cocktail party Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James R. Breed, sponsored by the Poughkeepsie League. The tea was sponsored by executive boards of the two hostess leagues.

Observers attending from the Kingston league were: Mrs. William Anderson, vice president; Mrs. James Quinn, Mrs. Allan McCorkle, Mrs. Andrew Coat, Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. George Bushnell, Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush and Mrs. Robert Russell.

The conference, first to be conducted in Poughkeepsie since 1929, was attended by representatives of twenty-two leagues from Region 2, which includes a section of Canada.

DELEGATES FROM THE LOCAL league were: Mrs. Peter Corsones, education and provisional chairman and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, publicity chairman.

Other Leagues sending delegates to the conference included Albany, Binghamton, Bronxville, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Elmira, Larchmont, Mt. Kisco, New York city, Rochester, Scarsdale, Schenectady, Syracuse, Tarrytown, and Utica as well as Toronto and Hamilton, Ont., Can.

Poughkeepsie delegates were Mrs. H. William Nordyke, ways and means chairman, and Mrs. William Sherman, Jr., Children's Theatre. Mrs. Philip S. Potter, Jr., is president of the Poughkeepsie League.

Newburgh delegates were Mrs. C. M. Mousseau, education chairman, and Mrs. Edward Thayer 3rd was Middletown unit representative.

THE BUSINESS of the conference dealt with organizational reports and suggestions regarding the League programs.

The speakers included Miss Alice Towsley, editor of the Junior League Magazine, whose topic was, Magazine Chairman, Her Potential Scope in your Junior League, and Miss Robbie Hunt Burton, AJLA consultant on welfare.

A recent United Nations study indicates that the proportion of personal income used for food has increased throughout the world since World War 2.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

AN ABSTEMIOUS FRIEND

A reader asks: "When lunching, or dining, with a friend (but not as her guest) and you know that she dislikes alcoholic beverages, is it rude to order a cocktail before dinner if you happen to enjoy it, or must you forego this pleasure because of your nondrinking friend. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

If you order one, and in no way take more than a moderate amount of alcohol, your nondrinking friend can have no cause for complaint—unless even a small amount affects you unpleasantly, perhaps by talking in too loud a voice.

Concerning Attendants at Second Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is to be married soon for second time. She has asked me to be her matron of honor and she would also like her 12-year-old daughter to take part. We have ben told that it isn't proper to have more than one attendant at a second wedding. Is this true? If both can't take part, would it be proper to have one as young as 12 be the only attendant?

Answer: At a second wedding, it is not proper to have a long procession of bridesmaids and ushers, but two attendants—a maid of honor and a junior bridesmaid—would be entirely proper.

May She Give Him a Present?

Dear Mrs. Post: What can I do to show my gratitude to a man who gives me a lift to my office five days a week, and home again in the evening if I happen to be ready. True, he doesn't have to drive out of his way; just the same, it is a great convenience to me and saves me traveling in the crowded subways. We work for the same company. He is married. I am not. Would a present be out of order?

If you know of a certain impersonal item that he has been intending to get, especially something for his car, it will be quite proper to give it to him.

Where should the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on wedding procedure, the receiving line and other details are answered in leaflet E-2. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

32nd Annual Supper, Dance to Be Given At White Eagle Hall

The 32nd annual turkey supper and dance sponsored by the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Society, Inc., will be held Saturday night in the White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue. The public is invited.

Supper will be served from 5 to 9 p. m. Johnny Menko's Connecticut Broadcasting orchestra will furnish music for dancing beginning at 8 p. m.

Tickets may be procured from any member of the society or at the door.

Tasty Casserole

A casserole of dried lima beans and tomato sauce tastes wonderful with boiled or grilled frankfurters. Nice change, too, from the mashed potatoes that usually accompany frankfurters!

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

AN ABSTEMIOUS FRIEND

A reader asks: "When lunching, or dining, with a friend (but not as her guest) and you know that she dislikes alcoholic beverages, is it rude to order a cocktail before dinner if you happen to enjoy it, or must you forego this pleasure because of your nondrinking friend. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

If you order one, and in no way take more than a moderate amount of alcohol, your nondrinking friend can have no cause for complaint—unless even a small amount affects you unpleasantly, perhaps by talking in too loud a voice.

Concerning Attendants at Second Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is to be married soon for second time. She has asked me to be her matron of honor and she would also like her 12-year-old daughter to take part. We have ben told that it isn't proper to have more than one attendant at a second wedding. Is this true? If both can't take part, would it be proper to have one as young as 12 be the only attendant?

Answer: At a second wedding, it is not proper to have a long procession of bridesmaids and ushers, but two attendants—a maid of honor and a junior bridesmaid—would be entirely proper.

May She Give Him a Present?

Dear Mrs. Post: What can I do to show my gratitude to a man who gives me a lift to my office five days a week, and home again in the evening if I happen to be ready. True, he doesn't have to drive out of his way; just the same, it is a great convenience to me and saves me traveling in the crowded subways. We work for the same company. He is married. I am not. Would a present be out of order?

If you know of a certain impersonal item that he has been intending to get, especially something for his car, it will be quite proper to give it to him.

Where should the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on wedding procedure, the receiving line and other details are answered in leaflet E-2. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. A casserole of dried lima beans and tomato sauce tastes wonderful with boiled or grilled frankfurters. Nice change, too, from the mashed potatoes that usually accompany frankfurters!

The concert will be given at 8:30 p. m. in the main auditorium of the State Teachers College at New Paltz. Mr. Milstein will be accompanied by the distinguished pianist, Arthur Balsam.

Mr. Milstein has chosen the following program for his New Paltz concert: Chacone, from Opus 3, by Vitali; Two movements from the Sonata in G minor, by Bach; Sonata in D minor, by Brahms; Nigun (Improvisation), by Block; Two Caprices—E flat Major, No. 17, and G minor, No. 16, by Paganini; Russian Maiden's Song, by Stravinsky; and Burleska, by Suk.

A reception sponsored by the College Union Board will be given in honor of Mr. Milstein in the Main Lounge of the College Union Building immediately after the concert. Students, faculty, and the general public attending the concert are invited to attend.

MR. MILSTEIN is recognized throughout three continents as one of the world's greatest violinists. His mastery of the violin is acknowledged by all of the critics as violin playing second to none. He was recognized as a master of the violin before he started his career in the western world, by none other than the great violinist, Eugene Ysaye.

The young Russian had come to Belgium to study with Ysaye, but so stunning was the technique, so great the musicianship, and so astounding the virtuosity, that Ysau turned to the boy and said simply, "Go—there is nothing I can teach you." Since then, Nathan Milstein's talents have astounded audiences of three continents.

Undoubtedly it will be remembered that last year at Thanksgiving time, Mrs. Butler and I were happy to give Free Turkeys with every purchase of $100 — or more. This year we still want to show our appreciation to our many customer friends, but we want to include all of you, not just purchasers of one category, so we think it would be more fair to all, if, instead of giving away turkeys we give everyone — ON EVERY PURCHASE, large or small, a minimum reduction of 10% off our usual Guaranteed lower prices. For instance, we are offering, in chrome, wrought iron, or blacktone for your dining area—a table and 2 chairs at $29.95 — a table and 4 chairs at $49.95 — larger, more elaborate sets will run slightly higher. We have 2 piece Kroehler suites, a sofa and matching chair in durable frieze at $139.95. We're featuring complete bedroom suites, not just a dresser and a bed, but complete suites, a double dresser & mirror, chest, bed and nite stand, with all pieces fully dustproof, centre guided, perfectly made, at prices ranging from $193.50 to $987 — with an automatic 20% reduction off list prices on mattress & boxspring when purchasing any bedroom suite. On odd chairs of all kinds, we will undersell any furniture store in the county from $5 to $50 per chair, depending on size and quality. We have them in all sizes, shapes, and styles. We have many, many other pieces of very fine furniture at very reasonable prices and believe you, and your friends will feel that we are fully justified in claiming we are in a position, because of our low overhead, to give "MORE VALUE FOR LESS", than any furniture store in Ulster County. We're only about a 15 minute ride from Kingston on Route 28a in West Hurley. Why not bring the family, or your friends, and drive out in the country where the overhead is lower, and see for yourself if we can do as we say. You're not obligated in any way and we're glad to show you our well stocked showrooms. And don't let the "worry warts" cause you the slightest of concern over the QUALITY of furniture bought at Butler's. We have on our floor many of the finest, most desirable pieces in nationally advertised lines of better furniture in the country, and many of these famous names are carried EXCLUSIVELY in this area, at Butler's. Ask your friends, we'll wager some of them have, "been up to Butler's." Possibly they too might have made a satisfied purchase and can tell you personally of our quality and prices. And you don't have to pay cash to "buy better furniture at better prices" when you "buy at Butler's." Use budget, or lay-a-way, and still save.

Canadiens Lead Up to 3 Points

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Canadiens still were in first place in the National Hockey League today—thanks to a clutch goal by Jean Beliveau and a brilliant net-minding performance by 21-year-old Charlie Hodge.

The Canadiens edged runnerup Toronto 5-4 last night to boost their lead to three points and also snap the Leafs' unbeaten string at nine games. In the only other game played, the Boston Bruins whipped the Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 and took over fifth place.

The Canadiens' victory, achieved at Montreal before 14,692, had all the elements of a story-book setting. The Leafs had throttled Montreal 5-2 at Toronto Wednesday night for their seventh straight triumph and would have moved into first place by one point had they defeated the Canadiens last night.

Beliveau's tie-breaking goal came with 14 seconds to play.

Tickets for KHS-NFA Selling at Brisk Pace

Coach G. Warren Kias, athletic director at Kingston High, reports enthusiastic public reaction to the new starting time for the Kingston-Newburgh DUSO football game, Thanksgiving Day at Newburgh.

The starting time was moved up from 2 p. m. to 11:15 a. m. on an experimental basis.

"Student tickets are selling at a fast clip, Kias said this morning "and we already have filled two buses."

Kias said adult tickets also were moving at a good clip and all signs point to Kingston's best attendance at Newburgh in several years.

"We urge folks to make their ticket purchase at the high school," Kias added. "This will save them standing in line at the Newburgh gates and give some a chance to make a later start."

Ticket orders will be received at the high school through next Wednesday.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

A COUPLE QUICKIES: If Middletown High wins the DUSO League football title outright, it will be the first time since 1935. They shared it with Newburgh about 10 years ago. The NCAA's TV Game of the Week finally picked the right one—Saturday's gigantic clash between Ohio State and Michigan for the Big Ten title and trip to the Rose Bowl.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Ulster County Athletic League's expanded basketball program puts Ulster county on a par with Dutchess and Orange . . . If local pocket billiard fans are wondering about Willie Mosconi, he won his first two blocks against Pete Judice for the "world title," 125-0 in two innings and 125-9 in four frames. Wonder if pocket billiards will ever return to the era of Fred Plenthaber, Cliff Quick, Julius Tellier, Davie Brooks? A pool of Southern California newsmen disclosed 25 picked UCLA to wallop UCS, while 8 picked the Rose Bowl bound Trojans in tomorrow's Coast classic . . . The New York State Conservation Council is co-sponsor with the National Wildlife Federation of an essay contest for junior and senior high school students. The junior high topic is: "What Good is a Marsh?" The senior topic: "Why Save Our Marshlands?" Essays of winners in each division will be submitted to the New York State Conservation Council for appropriate prizes on the state level. The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County will offer $10 and $5.

THE DEERSLAYERS: On the basis of early reports, the woods must be full of deer this year. Louis Whelan, 26 Boulevard, bagged an 8-pointer (200 lbs.) off the Thruway between Kingston and New Paltz. Our own Roland Post bagged a bear, not as big as Egbert Schultz's, but a bear. Julius Vitarius of 287 West O'Reilly came up with an 8-pointer. Sgt. Harold Mills of the Saugerties police department finally landed one after 25 years of trying, near Jewett in the Catskills . . . Al Marhissio, who manages the farm of world famous golfer, Gene Sarazen, got his deer early in the morning, 7:07 a. m., a 6-point, 150-pound buck. Where did he get it? Right on the Sarazen farm. Tom Layton, a gun collector from Beacon, proved that you don't need fancy firearms to get a deer. Layton bagged a five-point, 170-pound buck on Mt. Beacon, using a muzzle-loading 10-guage shotgun. He connected from 80 yards.

Althought Port Jervis is mired in the depths of a six-game losing streak, sports editor Ralph Fredericks promises an upset over Middletown High in the traditional turkey day clash of the Orange county schools. On paper, Middletown should win handily but for this one you can throw out the form chart. The series is studded with form reversals, more so than the Kingston-NFA rivalry. The Red and Black has dropped several tough games and three extra points in the right place would have meant two victories and a tie. Meanwhile, KHS shouldn't take too Newburgh Academy too lightly on Thanksgiving Day. This has all the earmarks of a rock-and-sock battle. The statistical summary didn't make any overwhelming case for MHS over NFA. Take away those two long passes by Ray Myers and it was a close battle. Coach Bill Burke and Russ Cunningham will keep the pressure on the KHS squad. Newburgh Academy is bound to be "up" seeking to salvage its 1954 season with one stroke.

Ohio State and Michigan Battle for Rose Bowl

The collegiate football spotlight swings through the nation Saturday in an attempt to illuminate the hazy bowl picture as the season heads into its windup stage.

Several crucial tests, with possible Rose, Orange and Cotton Bowl bids hinging on their outcomes, and a batch of tradition-studded games are on Saturday's card.

The Big 10 representative to the Rose Bowl will be determined when undefeated Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked team, clashes with Michigan at Columbus before a sellout 82,000 and a national television audience (ABC).

AN OHIO STATE victory would give the Buckeyes the Big 10 crown and the trip to Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day. If Michigan wins, the two teams end up with identical 6-1 league records and a vote would have to be taken to decide the Rose Bowl entry.

In the far west, UCLA, also unbeaten and No. 2 in the rankings, faces Southern California with a sellout crowd of 102,000 slated to jam the Los Angeles Coliseum.

UCLA competed in the Rose Bowl last season and isn't eligible to return this Jan. 1. Regardless of the outcome of Saturday's game, USC gets the nod as the Pacific Coast entrant in the Rose Bowl.

Other top-flight games which will have a direct bearing on Jan. 1 pairings include Baylor and Southern Methodist at Dallas, Nebraska and Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., Kansas State and Colorado at Boulder, Colo., South Carolina and Duke at Durham, N. C., and George Washington and Maryland at College Park, Md.

Southern Methodist has the inside track on the Southwest Conference crown and the Cotton Bowl host on New Year's Day. The Mustangs, fresh off their upset of Arkansas last week, need to trip only Baylor this Saturday and then Texas Christian the following week to wrap up southwest honors.

OKLAHOMA, the third major undefeated team and No. 3 in the Associated Press listings, currently heads the Big Seven standings. The Sooners, however, competed in the Orange Bowl last Jan. 1 and by a league rule they are ineligible to return two years in a row. The runnerup thus gains the bid.

If Kansas State beats Colorado while Oklahoma disposes of Nebraska, both Kansas State and Nebraska would finish with 4-2 league marks. Kansas State would then be accorded the Orange Bowl selection because the Wildcats turned back the Cornhuskers earlier in the season.

Maryland and Duke are unbeaten in Atlantic Conference competition and expect to remain that way after Saturday's activity. The GW-Maryland game is not a conference affair, but a setback might eliminate the Terrapins from Orange Bowl consideration.

The A.C.C. representative for the Miami jaunt will be determined by a league committee after Maryland meets Missouri and Duke plays North Carolina next week. The Terrapins were selected last year.

NOTRE DAME, No. 4, visits Iowa in a game that should produce its share of interest. Iowa still is incensed over last season's 14-14 tie.

Sixth-ranked Mississippi, heading for the Southeastern title and a Sugar Bowl date at New Orleans, is idle this Saturday.

Army, No. 5 in the country, and Navy, tied for seventh with Southern California, also get a rest this Saturday—before their national TV spectacle next week in Philadelphia.

Ninth-ranked Arkansas, still in line for a Cotton Bowl offer if SMU falls, opposes Louisiana State in a non-conference title. Minnesota, No. 10, visits Wisconsin in another Big 10 encounter.

Harvard entertains Yale in the 71st renewal of these Ivy League foes, the East's top game of the day. A Yale victory will give the Bulldogs their first league title since 1946.

Tonight's (Friday) schedule is meager with Alabama facing Miami in the major attraction.

Allie Hasbrouck to Play Against Woodstock Varsity

Six-foot-seven Allie Hasbrouck, All-DUSO player at Liberty High, leads the Monticello Chiefs against the Woodstock Varsity in the village basketball opener tonight.

Hasbrouck later served as understudy to All-American, Sherman White, on Coach Clair Bee's last great Long Island University squad before the intercollegiate basketball scandal broke.

COACH WALTER S. Van Wagenen named a starting lineup for Woodstock today. It will have Richie Hilton and Bob Kaiser at forwards; Ken Harder, center; Billy Waterous and Bill Kleine at guards.

Also slated to see action are Lafayette "Champ" Holstein, Ward Dunham and Jim Colclough of Kingston.

Jim Riehl, who played with the Vs last year, is expected to join the squad next week.

Matthews' Decision To Quit Boxing Surprises Manager

Seattle, Nov. 19 (AP)—Harry Matthews' fistic trail, strewn with 109 wins, six losses and the death of his heavyweight championship hopes, came to an end last night.

Matthews announced he has hung up his gloves, once and for all, after discussing the matter with his friends and his wife—but not his longtime manager, Deacon Jack Hurley.

Hurley expressed surprise and disappointment when advised of his protege's decision.

Matthews three times was stopped by Don Cockell, British heavyweight champion, and was knocked out in the second round of a fight with Rocky Marciano on July 28, 1952, a few months before Marciano became heavyweight champion.

Sharpies Still Trying

Martinez Nixed 20 Gs Bribe in Fiore Contest

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Two days before he stopped Carmine Fiore in the 7th round in Madison Square Garden on Oct. 29, Vince Martinez rejected $20,000 to throw the fight.

The 25-year-old Paterson, N. J. youth, 7th-ranked welterweight contender, confirmed the bribe attempt yesterday after the story was published in Sports Illustrated, a weekly sports magazine.

Vince had been told to keep the attempt "quiet" by District Attorney Frank Hogan who said "an investigation is continuing."

The attempt followed by five months the June 4 arrest of Clarence Henry, former heavyweight contender, on a charge of having offered middleweight Bobby Jones $15,000 to lose his June 11 Garden fight with Joey Giardello. Giardello outpointed Jones. Henry is out on $2,000 bail.

MARTINEZ SAID he was approached by two men near his Paterson home at noon, Wednesday, Oct. 27. This is what Vince said:

"They called to me and I went out to their car—it had a New York license—and they said: 'We'll give you plenty of cash, $20,000, if you lose the fight.

"I told them 'no dice. I'm in line for a title fight and I don't need that kind of money,' when they kept on talking, I said 'You guys better get out of here' and they left."

On Thursday Vince told his brother Phil

"I remembered the Henry case," said Phil, "and I know there's a penalty if you don't tell of bribe offers. So we called the Commission (New York State Athletic Commission) and they told the district attorney's office. We were told to go to the DA's office that night. We did and told the story. Vince never saw the men before but he would recognize them if he saw them again."

Failure to report a bribe in New York is punishable by a fine and other disciplinary action that the commission decrees.

Canadiens Lead Up to 3 Points

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Canadiens still were in first place in the National Hockey League today—thanks to a clutch goal by Jean Beliveau and a brilliant net-minding performance by 21-year-old Charlie Hodge.

The Canadiens edged runnerup Toronto 5-4 last night to boost their lead to three points and also snap the Leafs' unbeaten string at nine games. In the only other game played, the Boston Bruins whipped the Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 and took over fifth place.

The Canadiens' victory, achieved at Montreal before 14,692, had all the elements of a story-book setting. The Leafs had throttled Montreal 5-2 at Toronto Wednesday night for their seventh straight triumph and would have moved into first place by one point had they defeated the Canadiens last night.

Beliveau's tie-breaking goal came with 14 seconds to play.

Tickets for KHS-NFA Selling at Brisk Pace

Coach G. Warren Kias, athletic director at Kingston High, reports enthusiastic public reaction to the new starting time for the Kingston - Newburgh DUSO football game, Thanksgiving Day at Newburgh.

The starting time was moved up from 2 p. m. to 11:15 a. m. on an experimental basis.

"Student tickets are selling at a fast clip, Kias said this morning "and we already have filled two buses."

Kias said adult tickets also were moving at a good clip and all signs point to Kingston's best attendance at Newburgh in several years.

"We urge folks to make their ticket purchase at the high school," Kias added. "This will save them standing in line at the Newburgh gates and give some a chance to make a later start."

Ticket orders will be received at the high school through next Wednesday.

A COUPLE QUICKIES: If Middletown High wins the DUSO League football title outright, it will be the first time since 1935. They shared it with Newburgh about 10 years ago. The NCAA's TV Game of the Week finally picked the right one—Saturday's gigantic clash between Ohio State and Michigan for the Big Ten title and trip to the Rose Bowl.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Ulster County Athletic League's expanded basketball program puts Ulster county on a par with Dutchess and Orange . . . If local pocket billiard fans are wondering about Willie Mosconi, he won his first two blocks against Pete Judice for the "world title," 125-0 in two innings and 125-9 in four frames. Wonder if pocket billiards will ever return to the era of Fred Plenthaber, Cliff Quick, Julius Tellier, Davie Brooks? A pool of Southern California newsmen disclosed 25 picked UCLA to wallop UCS, while 8 picked the Rose Bowl bound Trojans in tomorrow's Coast classic . . . The New York State Conservation Council is co-sponsor with the National Wildlife Federation of an essay contest for junior and senior high school students. The junior high topic is: "What Good is a Marsh?" The senior topic: "Why Save Our Marshlands?" Essays of winners in each division will be submitted to the New York State Conservation Council for appropriate prizes on the state level. The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County will offer $10 and $5.

THE DEERSLAYERS: On the basis of early reports, the woods must be full of deer this year. Louis Whelan, 26 Boulevard, bagged an 8-pointer (200 lbs.) off the Thruway between Kingston and New Paltz. Our own Roland Post bagged a bear, not as big as Egbert Schultz's, but a bear. Julius Vitarius of 287 West O'Reilly came up with an 8-pointer. Sgt. Harold Mills of the Saugerties police department finally landed one after 25 years of trying, near Jewett in the Catskills . . . Al Marhissio, who manages the farm of world famous golfer, Gene Sarazen, got his deer early in the morning, 7:07 a. m., a 6-point, 150-pound buck. Where did he get it? Right on the Sarazen farm. Tom Layton, a gun collector from Beacon, proved that you don't need fancy firearms to get a deer. Layton bagged a five-point, 170-pound buck on Mt. Beacon, using a muzzle-loading 10-guage shotgun. He connected from 80 yards.

Althought Port Jervis is mired in the depths of a six-game losing streak, sports editor Ralph Fredericks promises an upset over Middletown High in the traditional turkey day clash of the Orange county schools. On paper, Middletown should win handily but for this one you can throw out the form chart. The series is studded with form reversals, more so than the Kingston-NFA rivalry. The Red and Black has dropped several tough games and three extra points in the right place would have meant two victories and a tie. Meanwhile, KHS shouldn't take too Newburgh Academy too lightly on Thanksgiving Day. This has all the earmarks of a rock-and-sock battle. The statistical summary didn't make any overwhelming case for MHS over NFA. Take away those two long passes by Ray Myers and it was a close battle. Coach Bill Burke and Russ Cunningham will keep the pressure on the KHS squad. Newburgh Academy is bound to be "up" seeking to salvage its 1954 season with one stroke.

Ohio State and Michigan Battle for Rose Bowl

The collegiate football spotlight swings through the nation Saturday in an attempt to illuminate the hazy bowl picture as the season heads into its windup stage.

Several crucial tests, with possible Rose, Orange and Cotton Bowl bids hinging on their outcomes, and a batch of tradition-studded games are on Saturday's card.

The Big 10 representative to the Rose Bowl will be determined when undefeated Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked team, clashes with Michigan at Columbus before a sellout 82,000 and a national television audience (ABC).

AN OHIO STATE victory would give the Buckeyes the Big 10 crown and the trip to Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day. If Michigan wins, the two teams end up with identical 6-1 league records and a vote would have to be taken to decide the Rose Bowl entry.

In the far west, UCLA, also unbeaten and No. 2 in the rankings, faces Southern California with a sellout crowd of 102,000 slated to jam the Los Angeles Coliseum.

UCLA competed in the Rose Bowl last season and isn't eligible to return this Jan. 1. Regardless of the outcome of Saturday's game, USC gets the nod as the Pacific Coast entrant in the Rose Bowl.

Other top-flight games which will have a direct bearing on Jan. 1 pairings include Baylor and Southern Methodist at Dallas, Nebraska and Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., Kansas State and Colorado at Boulder, Colo., South Carolina and Duke at Durham, N. C., and George Washington and Maryland at College Park, Md.

Southern Methodist has the inside track on the Southwest Conference crown and the Cotton Bowl host on New Year's Day. The Mustangs, fresh off their upset of Arkansas last week, need to trip only Baylor this Saturday and then Texas Christian the following week to wrap up southwest honors.

OKLAHOMA, the third major undefeated team and No. 3 in the Associated Press listings, currently heads the Big Seven standings. The Sooners, however, competed in the Orange Bowl last Jan. 1 and by a league rule they are ineligible to return two years in a row. The runnerup thus gains the bid.

If Kansas State beats Colorado while Oklahoma disposes of Nebraska, both Kansas State and Nebraska would finish with 4-2 league marks. Kansas State would then be accorded the Orange Bowl selection because the Wildcats turned back the Cornhuskers earlier in the season.

Maryland and Duke are unbeaten in Atlantic Conference competition and expect to remain that way after Saturday's activity. The GW-Maryland game is not a conference affair, but a setback might eliminate the Terrapins from Orange Bowl consideration.

The A.C.C. representative for the Miami jaunt will be determined by a league committee after Maryland meets Missouri and Duke plays North Carolina next week. The Terrapins were selected last year.

NOTRE DAME, No. 4, visits Iowa in a game that should produce its share of interest. Iowa still is incensed over last season's 14-14 tie.

Sixth-ranked Mississippi, heading for the Southeastern title and a Sugar Bowl date at New Orleans, is idle this Saturday.

Army, No. 5 in the country, and Navy, tied for seventh with Southern California, also get a rest this Saturday—before their national TV spectacle next week in Philadelphia.

Ninth-ranked Arkansas, still in line for a Cotton Bowl offer if SMU falls, opposes Louisiana State in a non-conference title. Minnesota, No. 10, visits Wisconsin in another Big 10 encounter.

Harvard entertains Yale in the 71st renewal of these Ivy League foes, the East's top game of the day. A Yale victory will give the Bulldogs their first league title since 1946.

Tonight's (Friday) schedule is meager with Alabama facing Miami in the major attraction.

Allie Hasbrouck to Play Against Woodstock Varsity

Six-foot-seven Allie Hasbrouck, All-DUSO player at Liberty High, leads the Monticello Chiefs against the Woodstock Varsity in the village basketball opener tonight.

Hasbrouck later served as understudy to All-American, Sherman White, on Coach Clair Bee's last great Long Island University squad before the intercollegiate basketball scandal broke.

COACH WALTER S. Van Wagenen named a starting lineup for Woodstock today. It will have Richie Hilton and Bob Kaiser at forwards; Ken Harder, center; Billy Waterous and Bill Kleine at guards.

Also slated to see action are Lafayette "Champ" Holstein, Ward Dunham and Jim Colclough of Kingston.

Jim Riehl, who played with the Vs last year, is expected to join the squad next week.

Martinez Nixed 20 Gs Bribe in Fiore Contest

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Two days before he stopped Carmine Fiore in the 7th round in Madison Square Garden on Oct. 29, Vince Martinez rejected $20,000 to throw the fight.

The 25-year-old Paterson, N. J. youth, 7th-ranked welterweight contender, confirmed the bribe attempt yesterday after the story was published in Sports Illustrated, a weekly sports magazine.

Vince had been told to keep the attempt "quiet" by District Attorney Frank Hogan who said "an investigation is continuing."

The attempt followed by five months the June 4 arrest of Clarence Henry, former heavyweight contender, on a charge of having offered middleweight Bobby Jones $15,000 to lose his June 11 Garden fight with Joey Giardello. Giardello outpointed Jones. Henry is out on $2,000 bail.

MARTINEZ SAID he was approached by two men near his Paterson home at noon, Wednesday, Oct. 27. This is what Vince said:

"They called to me and I went out to their car—it had a New York license—and they said: 'We'll give you plenty of cash, $20,000, if you lose the fight.

"I told them 'no dice. I'm in line for a title fight and I don't need that kind of money,' when they kept on talking, I said 'You guys better get out of here' and they left."

On Thursday Vince told his brother Phil

"I remembered the Henry case," said Phil, "and I know there's a penalty if you don't tell of bribe offers. So we called the Commission (New York State Athletic Commission) and they told the district attorney's office. We were told to go to the DA's office that night. We did and told the story. Vince never saw the men before but he would recognize them if he saw them again."

Failure to report a bribe in New York is punishable by a fine and other disciplinary action that the commission decrees.

Matthews' Decision To Quit Boxing Surprises Manager

Seattle, Nov. 19 (AP)—Harry Matthews' fistic trail, strewn with 109 wins, six losses and the death of his heavyweight championship hopes, came to an end last night.

Matthews announced he has hung up his gloves, once and for all, after discussing the matter with his friends and his wife—but not his longtime manager, Deacon Jack Hurley.

Hurley expressed surprise and disappointment when advised of his protege's decision.

Matthews three times was stopped by Don Cockell, British heavyweight champion, and was knocked out in the second round of a fight with Rocky Marciano on July 28, 1952, a few months before Marciano became heavyweight champion.

BOWLING SCORES

Bill Kuehn's 263 New High

Ferraro Major League keglers set three new league records last night. Not the stratospheric kind of yesteryear, but high enough to indicate the scoring level is on the upswing after an early season slump. And maybe the two new coats of mineralastic applied by Johnny Ferraro this week had something to do with it.

Bill Kuehn thumped a new high solo mark of 263, following 148 and 214 for 625 for both individual marks for the night.

HAYES-JARRETT TOPPLED 1048 for new team high single and Old Capital Motors put together games of 917, 958 and 1029 for new high triple of 2904.

The old marks were held by Jackie Ferraro and Bill Murray (256), Boulevard Gulf 1026 and Old Caps 2900.

Shirley Greene of the Sisterhood League compiled the highest woman's series with 142-192-155 for 489.

CHARLIE MANFRO reeled off 203-234-176 for the runnerup total of 613 in the Ferraro Major. Jack Ferraro knocked off 193-197-220-610 for the show spot. Lou Guadagnola spanked 222-605.

Yale-Harvard Battle of Sophs

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 19 (AP)—Seldom have sophomores played as big a role in the Harvard-Yale football series as they will tomorrow in the 71st meeting at Harvard Stadium.

Each team will have two sophomores in its starting backfield. Matt Botsford of Carnegie, Pa., will be at tailback and Tony Gianelly of Medford, Mass., at fullback for the Crimson. Yale is counting on quarterback Dean Loucks of White Plains, N. Y., and halfback Dennis McGill of North Bergen, N. J.

The battered Elis, seeking their 41st victory in a series in which Harvard has won 23 and seven have been ties, have too many injuiries to conduct its two-team backfield assignment with veterans on the No. 1 unit and sophomores on the second.

Patterson 7-5 To Beat Slade

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the precocious, 19-year-old light heavyweight contender, is a 7-5 choice to beat ringwise Jimmy Slade in an important eight rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight (10 p. m. EST-NBC).

The winner might wind up as the next title opponent for 175-pound champion Archie Moor.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
(Dog Editor)

"It comes right down to that," said Jack with finality. "It's cottontail rabbit hunting I want to do and I want to shoot them in front of a dog—not necessarily to bag more game, but to enjoy the dog work as well as the game on the table.

"But I don't know whether to get a basset or a beagle," he added.

I can see how he might wonder a bit. So let's look at the advantages and disadvantages of each and it may be easier to make the choice.

THE BASSET HOUND is more adaptable to bird work and if often used on pheasants and even grouse as a flushing dog with success. The breed has occasional natural retrievers, which is unusual in beagles.

Basset voices are deeper and more melodious, in keeping with their greater size and this brings up the matter of greater size—something to consider in terms of feeding, housing and transportation.

Another disadvantage of the basset is encountered in deep snow, where the beagle, too, is handicapped, but where a leggy 15-inch dog will be able to go much better than a basset. Sometimes, too, a crust will hold a beagle and a basset would break through and get himself into serious trouble.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE the erroneous idea that the faster a rabbit do the better. This is far from true. In fact, it's the very reason why the basset was bred so short-legged.

The purpose is to put a big-hound nose and a big-hound voice on legs that cannot push the rabbit so fast that it will go to the ground.

It is important that the dog be sure and give tongue with enthusiasm and be able to work out the checks properly and keep the bunny moving just enough so that it will take a line and then sit and listen, then take another line and listen-circling its home thickets again and again, thus offering opportunities for the gun.

It's a matter of weighting all those factors—or else you can just up and get the dog that pleases you most. A good dog of either breed will do the job well.

Warrior Trio Rates With Best In NBA Circuit

(By The Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Warriors, who have played only four games thus far, have in Paul Arizin, Neil Johnston and Joe Graboski, a trio that may develop into the best one-two-three punch in the National Basketball Assn.

Although the Warriors relinquished first place in the Eastern Division to New York via a 96-94 loss to the Knicks last night, this trio has provided more than just a ray of hope for the Philadelphia club. The three sharpshooters have a combined total of 263 points for the four games.

IN THE ONLY other game, the second of a doubleheader, the Syracuse Nationals handed the Fort Wayne Pistons their second loss of the season, 91-82.

The Knicks came from an 82-77 deficit in the last quarter to take the lead at 90-89. Just before the game ended, the Warriors missed four scoring chances. Harry Gallatin led the Knick scoring with 23 points. Arizin with 29 and Johnston with 24 were high men for the losers. Graboski had 12, his poorest effort of the season. The loss dropped the Warriors to fourth place.

Both defeats for the division-leading Pistons have been at the hands of the Nats.

The popular old musical comedy show, the vaudeville, got its name from a town in France. Vaudeville in French is Vau de Vire or the Valley of Vire where originally short satirical plays were written and produced.

Richards Sees Big Trade Boost To Baltimore

Baltimore, Nov. 19 (AP) — "I think we can now be automatically considered first-division challengers."

That's confident Paul Richards' appraisal of the million dollar 3 for 9 trade he pulled with the New York Yankees yesterday.

"As far as I'm concerned, this puts us in business," the Oriole field manager-general manager said before he left for Chicago where he hopes to do some more swapping.

The big deal which startled the American League, brought veteran outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catcher Hal Smith to Baltimore along with pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald, first baseman-catcher Gus Triandos and three others to be named later.

For these nine Yankees, Richards gave up Bob Turley, fireballing strikeout king of the American League, hardluck-pitcher Don Larsen and shortstop Billy Hunter.

Richards, who admitted it was a guy like Turley, who could be a great pitcher," said there was no way of improving the Orioles without putting the 24-year-old speedball pitcher in the deal.

BOWLING SCORES

Bill Kuehn's 263 New High

Ferraro Major League keglers set three new league records last night. Not the stratospheric kind of yesteryear, but high enough to indicate the scoring level is on the upswing after an early season slump. And maybe the two new coats of mineralastic applied by Johnny Ferraro this week had something to do with it.

Bill Kuehn thumped a new high solo mark of 263, following 148 and 214 for 625 for both individual marks for the night.

HAYES-JARRETT TOPPLED 1048 for new team high single and Old Capital Motors put together games of 917, 958 and 1029 for new high triple of 2904.

The old marks were held by Jackie Ferraro and Bill Murray (256), Boulevard Gulf 1026 and Old Caps 2900.

Yale-Harvard Battle of Sophs

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 19 (AP) —Seldom have sophomores played as big a role in the Harvard-Yale football series as they will tomorrow in the 71st meeting at Harvard Stadium.

Each team will have two sophomores in its starting backfield. Matt Botsford of Carnegie, Pa., will be at tailback and Tony Gianelly of Medford, Mass., at fullback for the Crimson. Yale is counting on quarterback Dean Loucks of White Plains, N. Y., and halfback Dennis McGill of North Bergen, N. J.

The battered Elis, seeking their 41st victory in a series in which Harvard has won 23 and seven have been ties, have too many injuiries to conduct its two-team backfield assignment with veterans on the No. 1 unit and sophomores on the second.

Patterson 7-5 To Beat Slade

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the precocious, 19-year-old light heavyweight contender, is a 7-5 choice to beat ringwise Jimmy Slade in an important eight rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight (10 p. m. EST-NBC).

The winner might wind up as the next title opponent for 175-pound champion Archie Moor.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
(Dog Editor)

"It comes right down to that," said Jack with finality. "It's cottontail rabbit hunting I want to do and I want to shoot them in front of a dog—not necessarily to bag more game, but to enjoy the dog work as well as the game on the table.

"But I don't know whether to get a basset or a beagle," he added.

I can see how he might wonder a bit. So let's look at the advantages and disadvantages of each and it may be easier to make the choice.

THE BASSET HOUND is more adaptable to bird work and if often used on pheasants and even grouse as a flushing dog with success. The breed has occasional natural retrievers, which is unusual in beagles.

Basset voices are deeper and more melodious, in keeping with their greater size and this brings up the matter of greater size—something to consider in terms of feeding, housing and transportation.

Another disadvantage of the basset is encountered in deep snow, where the beagle, too, is handicapped, but where a leggy 15-inch dog will be able to go much better than a basset. Sometimes, too, a crust will hold a beagle and a basset would break through and get himself into serious trouble.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE the erroneous idea that the faster a rabbit do the better. This is far from true. In fact, it's the very reason why the basset was bred so short-legged.

The purpose is to put a big-hound nose and a big-hound voice on legs that cannot push the rabbit so fast that it will go to the ground.

It is important that the dog be sure and give tongue with enthusiasm and be able to work out the checks properly and keep the bunny moving just enough so that it will take a line and then sit and listen, then take another line and listen-circling its home thickets again and again, thus offering opportunities for the gun.

It's a matter of weighting all those factors—or else you can just up and get the dog that pleases you most. A good dog of either breed will do the job well.

Warrior Trio Rates With Best In NBA Circuit

(By The Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Warriors, who have played only four games thus far, have in Paul Arizin, Neil Johnston and Joe Graboski, a trio that may develop into the best one-two-three punch in the National Basketball Assn.

Although the Warriors relinquished first place in the Eastern Division to New York via a 96-94 loss to the Knicks last night, this trio has provided more than just a ray of hope for the Philadelphia club. The three sharpshooters have a combined total of 263 points for the four games.

IN THE ONLY other game, the second of a doubleheader, the Syracuse Nationals handed the Fort Wayne Pistons their second loss of the season, 91-82.

The Knicks came from an 82-77 deficit in the last quarter to take the lead at 90-89. Just before the game ended, the Warriors missed four scoring chances. Harry Gallatin led the Knick scoring with 23 points. Arizin with 29 and Johnston with 24 were high men for the losers. Graboski had 12, his poorest effort of the season. The loss dropped the Warriors to fourth place.

Both defeats for the division-leading Pistons have been at the hands of the Nats.

Why We Say--

The popular old musical comedy show, the vaudeville, got its name from a town in France. Vaudeville in French is Vau de Vire or the Valley of Vire where originally short satirical plays were written and produced.

Richards Sees Big Trade Boost To Baltimore

Baltimore, Nov. 19 (AP) — "I think we can now be automatically considered first-division challengers."

That's confident Paul Richards' appraisal of the million dollar 3 for 9 trade he pulled with the New York Yankees yesterday.

"As far as I'm concerned, this puts us in business," the Oriole field manager-general manager said before he left for Chicago where he hopes to do some more swapping.

The big deal which startled the American League, brought veteran outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catcher Hal Smith to Baltimore along with pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald, first baseman-catcher Gus Triandos and three others to be named later.

For these nine Yankees, Richards gave up Bob Turley, fireballing strikeout king of the American League, hardluck-pitcher Don Larsen and shortstop Billy Hunter.

Richards, who admitted it was "tough . . . to trade off a guy like Turley, who could be a great pitcher," said there was no way of improving the Orioles without putting the 24-year-old speedball pitcher in the deal.

SKIDDING to a comedy halt at Kingston High School is the 1955 senior class play, in the first performance last night, about the trials and tribulations of the popular Hardy family. Featured are, seated, Miss Cynthia Haver, a married daughter, and Rollin Spinner, a campaign manager, and standing, Miss Sandra Galate and James Nerone, with an off-and-on engagement. (Freeman photo).

HEADING THE CAST of the senior play which will be repeated tonight and Saturday, are Bernard "Buddy" Carpinelli, seated right, as Andrew Hardy, George Dixon, left, as Grandpa, and in the second row, George Dahl and Christina Keith, as Judge Hardy and Mother Hardy, Carol Ann Martin, as one of their married daughters, and Elaine Macholdt as Aunt Milly. (Freeman photo)

Problems of Marriage, Politics Beset Hardy Family in Senior Class Comedy

It's always a pleasure to watch a play as well done in every respect as the senior class play at Kingston High School, Skidding, which last night gave the initial performance of a three-day run, directed by Miss Madeleine Tarrant.

The infallible 'Tarrant touch' which has been turning out professional productions from high school youngsters for many years, performed the same service in this comedy about the Hardy family — and problems of politics and marriage. The title refers to the five-year stage in married life, when things don't look so rosy, and wives are tempted to run home to mamma. Which just about covers some of the plot.

The young players handled difficult roles, particularly those of the Mother and Judge Hardy, and the politicking daughter, Marion, with professional aplomb. The roles were played by, respectively, Christiana Keith, George Dahl and Sande Galate.

PRAISE IS HEAPED high on Bernard Carpinelli, too, for his spirited portrayal of Andrew, who's dominated by the women in the house. He managed to evoke loud laughter just by his manner of giving the telephone operator the number of the corner drugstore, and attempts to open a suitcase, and like Ferdinand, sniffing carnations. Not to mention his fine comedy gestures and timing. As he mentions in the play, he's "the pebble that starts a landslide," and in this case, it's a landslide of laughs, at every opportunity he finds in the script.

Grandpa Hardy, played by George Dixon, was complete in every detail down to the beard and philosophy, about the happiness of the matrimonial state. His quavery voice and aged stooped figure achieved a characterization which never faltered in the entire three acts. Quite a feat for a high school senior to make such a role believable to an audience.

Aurania Rouverol, the author of these three acts of laughter generously mixed with tepid tears, treats the question of "making a go" of marriage by thrusting two Hardy daughters into a state of discontent. Estelle Hardy Campbell, played by Carol Ann Martin, and Myra Hardy Wilcox, played by Cynthia Haver, leave their husbands for different reasons to come home to mother, who promptly deals with the situation in her own way.

Carol Ann Martin handles her hysterical outbursts and "righteous indignation" at her neglected state in a convincing manner. We won't tell you what happens, because that's half the fun.

CYNTHIA HAVER, dignified and attractive even when arguing over whose turn to buy the groceries, worries prettily over the plight of the returned married daughter. She just doesn't feel that there's a place for her at home.

All of which gives Christine Keith a chance to exercise her lovely voice and splendid grasp of the role of Mother Hardy, in touching though vehement speech of advice to her confused daughters. Miss Keith, now that the discussion centers about the mainstays in the household, in speech and action, made the audience feel she was the concerned mother of the brood. Whose rebellion had a purpose.

Dark-haired vivacious Sandra Galate is cast as the Hardy daughter majoring in political science, with a particular bent to making effective speeches. (And she's been getting off-stage practice talking to local groups about her summer abroad.) She's torn between her desire for a career—and a proposal from an engineer, who doesn't approve of women who work. Enter difficulties. Especially when the married daughters enter with their woes.

SANDE'S PART contained many levels of acting, an assignment which she handled like a veteran. Nice that the scene was set in summer, so that she could wear such frothy frocks. The quiet in the auditorium was indicative that she held the audience firmly in her grasp, as she decided the question of the career and/or marriage.

As her suitor, James Nerone did a splendid job, playing his role sincerely. His scene of confronting Sande's stage dad, Judge Hardy, with "the big question," was a particularly good one.

JUDGE HARDY'S big headache was the election—er,—nomination coming up. Besides his daughter's marital woes. As the judge, he had the proper gravity and pride, and firmness in proclaiming his belief that he could be honest and still stay in politics.

Not much has been said yet about Aunt Milly, played by Elaine Macholdt, who certainly deserves much praise, too, for her portrayal of the old maid aunt who always wants things tidied up. Her speech of rebellion and advice was exceptionally well done, and climaxed her role.

MR. STUBBINS the politician's manager, was played to the hilt by Rollin Spinner, whose ten gallon hat wasn't the only tip-off on his part. The setting is Idaho, a "certain town."

In fact, everyone was splendid in the role portrayed. A tribute to many, many hours of rehearsal and many more spent brushing up on dialogue, and remembering gestures and movement. The latter, involving the sitting, standing and placement on stage, as well as all invented "business," was nigh unto perfect. The illusion was there of a family group living a life together, which the audience was permitted to eavesdrop on for the evening.

THE COZY living room, with the period furniture and flowered drapes, was constructed and lighted by the crew consisting of Richard Carnright, William Ewing, Angelo Fasano, and Joseph Carpino. Properties, including the furniture, were obtained through the committee composed of Barbara Schwartzberg, Anne Schwalbach, Albert Donnestad and Robert McNierney.

The job of making young people old for the evening was completed by the makeup committee composed of Elaine Macholdt, (who was a busy girl), Estelle Fatum, Betty Ann Hyatt, Myrna Donaldson and Barbara Leventhal.

Prompters for the play, who mostly rested for the evening thanks to the well-rehearsed cast, were Margaret Danford, Anne Dugan and Eileen Reis.

MISS TARRANT. was presented with a gift between acts by William Marchetti, president of the senior class.

The audience stayed seated between acts, too, because of the splendid music of the Kingston High School Orchestra under the direction of Harold B. Weaver. It's worthwhile getting to the auditorium early tonight or Saturday, to hear the "overture selections" on the program.

The business and publicity committee for the play was headed by Mrs. Wilson Norwood of the high school faculty. She was assisted by Margaret Bruck, Margaret Setera, Barbara Barkley, Beverly Davenport, Carolyn DeWitt, Marguerite McEvoy, Richard Dwyer, Peter Cain, Parker Black, Arthur Ortlieb, Karl Koster, Donald Bradley, and Clark Bundy.

Mention should be made of the usherettes who are indeed efficient about seating the audience. But it does help so much if everyone gets there before curtain time. Which is promptly at 8:15 p. m. today and Saturday.

Two Are Injured In Skid, Overturn

John Henry Golden, 25, and his brother, Frederick, 22, of 21 Mansion street, Poughkeepsie, were injured about 1:15 a. m. today when the automobile in which they were riding skidded on wet pavement and overturned on Route 9W one mile north of Marlborough, state police reported.

Troopers said John Golden suffered a fractured right ankle and Frederick Golden a possible fracture of the right hand and abrasions. Both were taken to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment.

BPW Hears . . .

of Cohoes, was granted permission to hang Christmas decorations in the city on the condition that the company is properly covered by insurance.

THE BOARD REFERRED to the Common Council bills listing 10 different charges for work done by the city in replacing sidewalks and cutting weeds and poison ivy on private properties. They totalled $49.10 and through action of the council will become charges on the property owners' tax bills.

On recommendation of the city engineer the board voted to pay $378.98 to contractor Benjamin Lombardi, of Highland for work done on the South Pine street sewer. The amount had been withheld as surety for payrolls and materials.

A request for a light on Janet street was referred to the light committee.

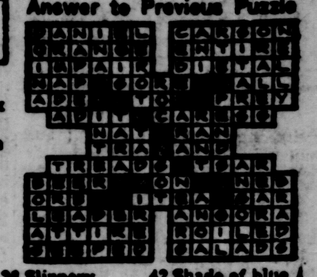
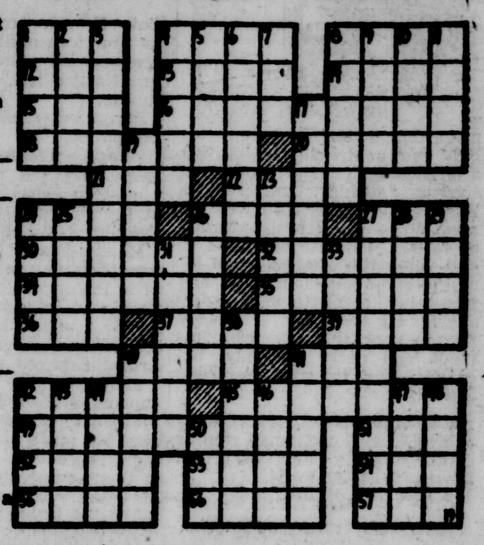
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Trial Nears End

Augusta, Ga. Nov. 19 (AP)—The court martial of a 24-year-old army officer charged with maltreating Camp Gordon trainees moved into its final stages today before a 10-man trial board. Second Lt. Charles C. Anderson testified yesterday he ordered tough physical exercises for his men as punishment. So far his defense has rested largely on a position that trainees were not harmed physically or mentally by Anderson's disciplinary measures.

No Agreement, He Says

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today there is on agreement not to press for Senate confirmation of President Eisenhower's nominations to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) this year. "There is no such agreement," Hickenlooper told newsmen. "That's solely a Democratic declaration. The Republicans made no such agreement." Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas had said earlier he had agreement with the GOP leadership that there would be no effort to push through nominations about which controversy developed.

SKIDDING to a comedy halt at Kingston High School is the 1955 senior class play, in the first performance last night, about the trials and tribulations of the popular Hardy family. Featured are, seated, Miss Cynthia Haver, a married daughter, and Rollin Spinner, a campaign manager, and standing, Miss Sandra Galate and James Nerone, with an off-and-on engagement. (Freeman photo).

HEADING THE CAST of the senior play which will be repeated tonight and Saturday, are Bernard "Buddy" Carpinelli, seated right, as Andrew Hardy, George Dixon, left, as Grandpa, and in the second row, George Dahl and Christina Keith, as Judge Hardy and Mother Hardy, Carol Ann Martin, as one of their married daughters, and Elaine Macholdt as Aunt Milly. (Freeman photo)

Problems of Marriage, Politics Beset Hardy Family in Senior Class Comedy

It's always a pleasure to watch a play as well done in every respect as the senior class play at Kingston High School, Skidding, which last night gave the initial performance of a three-day run, directed by Miss Madeleine Tarrant.

The infallible 'Tarrant touch' which has been turning out professional productions from high school youngsters for many years, performed the same service in this comedy about the Hardy family — and problems of politics and marriage. The title refers to the five-year stage in married life, when things don't look so rosy, and wives are tempted to run home to mamma. Which just about covers some of the plot.

The young players handled difficult roles, particularly those of the Mother and Judge Hardy, and the politicking daughter, Marion, with professional aplomb. The roles were played by, respectively, Christiana Keith, George Dahl and Sande Galate.

PRAISE IS HEAPED high on Bernard Carpinelli, too, for his spirited portrayal of Andrew, who's dominated by the women in the house. He managed to evoke loud laughter just by his manner of giving the telephone operator the number of the corner drugstore, and attempts to open a suitcase, and like Ferdinand, sniffing carnations. Not to mention his fine comedy gestures and timing. As he mentions in the play, he's "the pebble that starts a landslide," and in this case, it's a landslide of laughs, at every opportunity he finds in the script.

Grandpa Hardy, played by George Dixon, was complete in every detail down to the beard and philosophy, about the happiness of the matrimonial state. His quavery voice and aged stooped figure achieved a characterization which never faltered in the entire three acts. Quite a feat for a high school senior to make such a role believable to an audience.

Aurania Rouverol, the author of these three acts of laughter generously mixed with tepid tears, treats the question of "making a go" of marriage by thrusting two Hardy daughters into a state of discontent. Estelle Hardy Campbell, played by Carol Ann Martin, and Myra Hardy Wilcox, played by Cynthia Haver, leave their husbands for different reasons to come home to mother, who promptly deals with the situation in her own way.

Carol Ann Martin handles her hysterical outbursts and "righteous indignation" at her neglected state in a convincing manner. We won't tell you what happens, because that's half the fun.

CYNTHIA HAVER, dignified and attractive even when arguing over whose turn to buy the groceries, worries prettily over the plight of the returned married daughter. She just doesn't feel that there's a place for her at home.

All of which gives Christine Keith a chance to exercise her lovely voice and splendid grasp of the role of Mother Hardy, in touching though vehement speech of advice to her confused daughters. Miss Keith, now that the discussion centers about the mainstays in the household, in speech and action, made the audience feel she was the concerned mother of the brood. Whose rebellion had a purpose.

Dark-haired vivacious Sandra Galate is cast as the Hardy daughter majoring in political science, with a particular bent to making effective speeches. (And she's been getting off-stage practice talking to local groups about her summer abroad.) She's torn between her desire for a career—and a proposal from an engineer, who doesn't approve of women who work. Enter difficulties. Especially when the married daughters enter with their woes.

SANDE'S PART contained many levels of acting, an assignment which she handled like a veteran. Nice that the scene was set in summer, so that she could wear such frothy frocks. The quiet in the auditorium was indicative that she held the audience firmly in her grasp, as she decided the question of the career and/or marriage.

As her suitor, James Nerone did a splendid job, playing his role sincerely. His scene of confronting Sande's stage dad, Judge Hardy, with "the big question," was a particularly good one.

JUDGE HARDY'S big headache was the election—er,—nomination coming up. Besides his daughter's marital woes. As the judge, he had the proper gravity and pride, and firmness in proclaiming his belief that he could be honest and still stay in politics.

Not much has been said yet about Aunt Milly, played by Elaine Macholdt, who certainly deserves much praise, too, for her portrayal of the old maid aunt who always wants things tidied up. Her speech of rebellion and advice was exceptionally well done, and climaxed her role.

MR. STUBBINS the politician's manager, was played to the hilt by Rollin Spinner, whose ten gallon hat wasn't the only tip-off on his part. The setting is Idaho, a "certain town."

In fact, everyone was splendid in the role portrayed. A tribute to many, many hours of rehearsal and many more spent brushing up on dialogue, and remembering gestures and movement. The latter, involving the sitting, standing and placement on stage, as well as all invented "business," was nigh unto perfect. The illusion was there of a family group living a life together, which the audience was permitted to eavesdrop on for the evening.

THE COZY living room, with the period furniture and flowered drapes, was constructed and lighted by the crew consisting of Richard Carnright, William Ewing, Angelo Fasano, and Joseph Carpino. Properties, including the furniture, were obtained through the committee composed of Barbara Schwartzberg, Anne Schwalbach, Albert Donnestad and Robert McNierney.

The job of making young people old for the evening was completed by the makeup committee composed of Elaine Macholdt, (who was a busy girl), Estelle Fatum, Betty Ann Hyatt, Myrna Donaldson and Barbara Leventhal.

Prompters for the play, who mostly rested for the evening thanks to the well-rehearsed cast, were Margaret Danford, Anne Dugan and Eileen Reis.

MISS TARRANT. was presented with a gift between acts by William Marchetti, president of the senior class.

The audience stayed seated between acts, too, because of the splendid music of the Kingston High School Orchestra under the direction of Harold B. Weaver. It's worthwhile getting to the auditorium early tonight or Saturday, to hear the "overture selections" on the program.

The business and publicity committee for the play was headed by Mrs. Wilson Norwood of the high school faculty. She was assisted by Margaret Bruck, Margaret Setera, Barbara Barkley, Beverly Davenport, Carolyn DeWitt, Marguerite McEvoy, Richard Dwyer, Peter Cain, Parker Black, Arthur Ortlieb, Karl Koster, Donald Bradley, and Clark Bundy.

Mention should be made of the usherettes who are indeed efficient about seating the audience. But it does help so much if everyone gets there before curtain time. Which is promptly at 8:15 p. m. today and Saturday.

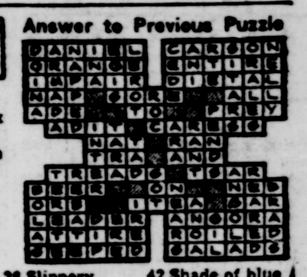
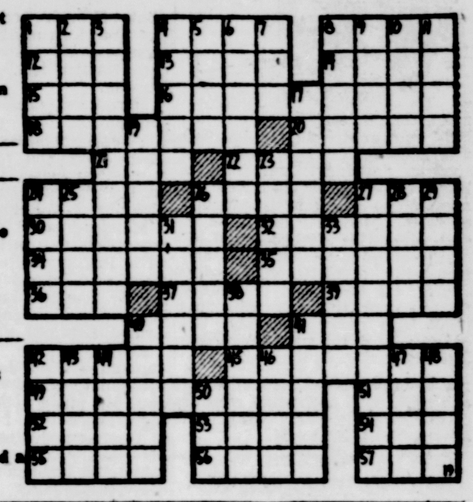
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Trial Nears End

Augusta, Ga. Nov. 19 (AP)—The court martial of a 24-year-old army officer charged with maltreating Camp Gordon trainees moved into its final stages today before a 10-man trial board. Second Lt. Charles C. Anderson testified yesterday he ordered tough physical exercises for his men as punishment. So far his defense has rested largely on a position that trainees were not harmed physically or mentally by Anderson's disciplinary measures.

No Agreement, He Says

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today there is on agreement not to press for Senate confirmation of President Eisenhower's nominations to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) this year. "There is no such agreement," Hickenlooper told newsmen. "That's solely a Democratic declaration. The Republicans made no such agreement." Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas had said earlier he had agreement with the GOP leadership that there would be no effort to push through nominations about which controversy developed.

Mendes-France was warmly applauded when he appeared in the Senate chamber during a recess. He made a brief talk, saying France was fully conscious of the Senate votes that brought his country so much aid, and he asked the lawmakers to pass on "my message of gratitude" to their constituents.

Fog Is Heavy

New York, Nov. 19 (AP) — A heavy fog today shrouded the eastern coast from Maine to Washington, D. C., slowing sea and air traffic. The weather bureau here predicted that conditions would remain about the same through the day and tonight. Ships coming into New York edged along carefully through the haze. La Guardia Airport was forced to turn most incoming flights away to other places because of poor visibility, but conditions were better at Idlewild Airport and operations there were normal.

Senators Differ

terday that McCarthy, when he has a chance to recover from his injury, will "be back here to defend himself with his chin up."

Edward Bennett Williams, McCarthy's attorney, relayed through Knowland word that McCarthy himself wanted the debate to continue in his absence.

The Senate's decision to call off its debate temporarily was taken on the advice of Dr. George Calver, capitol physician. Calver said "permanent injury" could result to McCarthy's arm —hurt when an enthusiastic handshaker pushed his elbow into a glass table top at Milwaukee last weekend—if the full course of treatment were not followed.

SEN. GOLDWATER (R.-Ariz.) said he had visited McCarthy at the Bethesda, Md., naval hospital and the Wisconsin senator was showing signs of strain and fatigue in addition to the arm injury. He entered the hospital Wednesday.

Lehman said he had campaigned for governor of New York and had toured Africa on a relief mission while he had a broken leg on each occasion. He said he wanted to be "merciful" to McCarthy but didn't believe the Senate should "temperize further."

Dirksen replied it would be "brutal" and "cynical" not to adjourn until Nov. 29, pleading with the Senate to give McCarthy the "little charities" he said all members ought to be accorded.

Dirksen spoke of the fever and pain he said McCarthy was undergoing. Sen. Langer (R.-N.D.) said this moved him near tears. He suggested the Senate send some roses to McCarthy. Dirksen said he was sure Langer was not being facetious, adding that individual senators could send flowers according to their own feeling of "sweetness and light."

THROUGH ALL of the byplay ran a note of serious contention, mostly from the Democrats, that the Senate might be risking a filibuster aimed at preventing any vote before the resolution died automatically Dec. 24. It could be revived in the next Congress in the event, but few felt it would be.

Knowland's announcement of the adjournment plan was followed by a declaration from Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas that when the Senate returns he will insist upon lengthy daily sessions in order to dispose of the censure resolution before Dec. 24.

Before the Senate got around to the adjournment question, Sen. Hendrickson (R.-N.J.) told his colleagues he was "not personally troubled" about McCarthy's remark that Hendrickson had "neither brains nor guts" except as it reflected on the 1951-52 Senate elections subcommittee McCarthy is accused of treating contemptuously.

Hendrickson said that if he was unfairly criticized "the real victim was the duly constituted subcommittee of the Senate." Hendrickson said any apology should be made to the subcommittee and the Senate, not to him. McCarthy has said he will not retract.

Demand Is Rejected

Bonn, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's four-party coalition unanimously rejected last night a Socialist demand that the West German Parliament open a full-scale debate on recent Soviet overtures for a big power conference. Adenauer said, however, that a meeting of the Big Four on German reunification would be an "urgent necessity" after the Paris agreements are ratified. The accords would tie a sovereign West Germany into the Western Defense Alliance.

Tests Are Planned

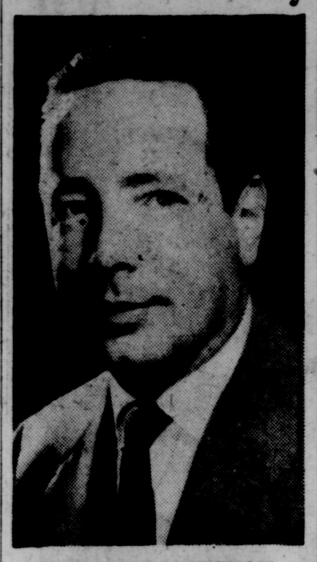
Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 19 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission plans new bomb tests in Nevada next spring. And Harold Goodwin, deputy assistant administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Agency, says they will "be the biggest yet from the standpoint of civil defense." Goodwin disclosed AEC test plans yesterday before a meeting of the Civil Defense Agency's national advisory committee on emergency housing and reception care.

Condition Improves

The condition of Harvey Rothenberger, 45, of Lyons Falls was reported as "slightly improved" at Kingston Hospital today. Rothenberger suffered a heart attack while driving a tractor-trailer on East Chester street extension early Thursday morning, but managed to pull the large vehicle safely off the highway, state police reported.

GOOD WILL — Max Conrad, who flew across the Atlantic Ocean recently, plans to devote a year to a 100,000-mile solo trip aimed at promoting international friendship. One of his plans is to get children of the world to communicate with each other through pen-pals correspondence clubs.

Legion Leader Endorses Drive To Back McCarthy



DONALD D. DUIGNAN

Commander Donald D. Duignan, of the Ulster County American Legion, today endorsed next Monday's Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice rally at municipal auditorium.

At the same time Duignan offered his full support in the fight against the Senate censure of Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), for which the rally is being held.

Duignan said "all Americans should look at the past record of all people who have actively worked against the planned attempt to overthrow the American government. These anti-Communists have always been under fire by the Communist Party and all of its various frontal organizations."

Duignan urged Ulster county residents to attend Monday's mass rally which will start at 8 p. m. Duignan will be present at the meeting, he said.

The petition, seeking 10,000,000 signatures of Americans in support of Senator McCarthy may be signed by the local public today from 3 until 9 p. m. and all day Saturday and Monday at the Kingston Chapter headquarters, 664 Broadway.

Two Freighters Collide

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Two freighters collided in the East river last night. The bow of one sank—leaving its stern tilted in the air— after being maneuvered into shallow water. No injuries were reported in the crash of the 7,502-ton Japanese ship. The Heirinsan Maru, and a 1,760-ton Panamanian flag vessel, the Lake Charles, which sank. The crash occurred south of the Williamsburg Bridge.

Accords Approval

Bonn, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's cabinet approved today the Paris accords to bring rearmed West Germany into NATO and sent them immediately to Parliament for ratification. "Rebel" factions in the four-party coalition government gave way and accepted the controversial Saar agreement as well as the pacts that would give West Germany sovereignty, authorize the raising of a 500,000-man armed force in the West European Union and make her a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Troopers Nab Two For South Police

Two youths believed wanted in a number of southern states were apprehended near Highland on Thursday afternoon by state police and are being held on vagrancy charges pending instructions from southern authorities, state police of the Highland station reported.

Apprehended with the assistance of an unknown truck driver were William Taylor, 24, of Freeport, Me., and Charles Wright, 20, of Marietta, Ga. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace P. J Conforti and sentenced to 20 days each on vagrancy charges.

Troopers said the youths were riding in a 1953 automobile reportedly stolen from New Orleans. They were captured when an unidentified truck driver, observing that two patrol cars were pursuing the youths' vehicle, "cut them off" on Route 9W about 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

State police said the youths are believed wanted in the South for alleged burglaries, car thefts and other violations.

Boost for Winnie

Liverpool, England, Nov. 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative party sat more firmly in the governmental saddle today after winning a sharply contested House of Commons by-election in Liverpool's West Derby district. Conservative J. V. Wollam retained the seat for the Tories by defeating Laborite C. R. Fenton 21,158-18,650 in yesterday's polling. Held to fill the vacancy caused by Sir David Maxwell Fyfe's elevation to the peerage, the election had been widely interpreted as a test of the Churchill government's popularity.

European problems, notably the outlook for ratification of the Paris agreements on German sovereignty and rearmament in a western European union, and on the ticklish Saar settlement, also are up for discussion.

Mendes-France dwelt on Europe yesterday in his initial talk with President Eisenhower and also in an informal session with Senate leaders, including members of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Mendes-France was warmly applauded when he appeared in the Senate chamber during a recess. He made a brief talk, saying France was fully conscious of the Senate votes that brought his country so much aid, and he asked the lawmakers to pass on "my message of gratitude" to their constituents.

Fog Is Heavy

New York, Nov. 19 (AP) — A heavy fog today shrouded the eastern coast from Maine to Washington, D. C., slowing sea and air traffic. The weather bureau here predicted that conditions would remain about the same through the day and tonight. Ships coming into New York edged along carefully through the haze. La Guardia Airport was forced to turn most incoming flights away to other places because of poor visibility, but conditions were better at Idlewild Airport and operations there were normal.

Bishops Ask Report

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States have ordered a special report on what they term "trickery, pressure and the most brutal violence" used by the Vietminh Communists to keep Vietnamese from going to the non-Communist zone of their country.

Senators Differ

terday that McCarthy, when he has a chance to recover from his injury, will "be back here to defend himself with his chin up."

Edward Bennett Williams, McCarthy's attorney, relayed through Knowland word that McCarthy himself wanted the debate to continue in his absence.

The Senate's decision to call off its debate temporarily was taken on the advice of Dr. George Calver, capitol physician. Calver said "permanent injury" could result to McCarthy's arm —hurt when an enthusiastic handshaker pushed his elbow into a glass table top at Milwaukee last weekend—if the full course of treatment were not followed.

SEN. GOLDWATER (R.-Ariz.) said he had visited McCarthy at the Bethesda, Md., naval hospital and the Wisconsin senator was showing signs of strain and fatigue in addition to the arm injury. He entered the hospital Wednesday.

Lehman said he had campaigned for governor of New York and had toured Africa on a relief mission while he had a broken leg on each occasion. He said he wanted to be "merciful" to McCarthy but didn't believe the Senate should "temperize further."

Dirksen replied it would be "brutal" and "cynical" not to adjourn until Nov. 29, pleading with the Senate to give McCarthy the "little charities" he said all members ought to be accorded.

Dirksen spoke of the fever and pain he said McCarthy was undergoing. Sen. Langer (R.-N.D.) said this moved him near tears. He suggested the Senate send some roses to McCarthy. Dirksen said he was sure Langer was not being facetious, adding that individual senators could send flowers according to their own feeling of "sweetness and light."

THROUGH ALL of the byplay ran a note of serious contention, mostly from the Democrats, that the Senate might be risking a filibuster aimed at preventing any vote before the resolution died automatically Dec. 24. It could be revived in the next Congress in the event, but few felt it would be.

Knowland's announcement of the adjournment plan was followed by a declaration from Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas that when the Senate returns he will insist upon lengthy daily sessions in order to dispose of the censure resolution before Dec. 24.

Before the Senate got around to the adjournment question, Sen. Hendrickson (R.-N.J.) told his colleagues he was "not personally troubled" about McCarthy's remark that Hendrickson had "neither brains nor guts" except as it reflected on the 1951-52 Senate elections subcommittee McCarthy is accused of treating contemptuously.

Hendrickson said that if he was unfairly criticized "the real victim was the duly constituted subcommittee of the Senate." Hendrickson said any apology should be made to the subcommittee and the Senate, not to him. McCarthy has said he will not retract.

Demand Is Rejected

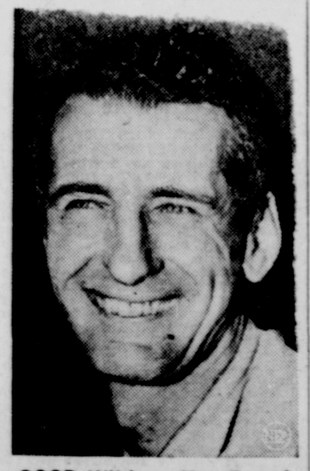
Bonn, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's four-party coalition unanimously rejected last night a Socialist demand that the West German Parliament open a full-scale debate on recent Soviet overtures for a big power conference. Adenauer said, however, that a meeting of the Big Four on German reunification would be an "urgent necessity" after the Paris agreements are ratified. The accords would tie a sovereign West Germany into the Western Defense Alliance.

Tests Are Planned

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 19 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission plans new bomb tests in Nevada next spring. And Harold Goodwin, deputy assistant administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Agency, says they will "be the biggest yet from the standpoint of civil defense." Goodwin disclosed AEC test plans yesterday before a meeting of the Civil Defense Agency's national advisory committee on emergency housing and reception care.

Condition Improves

The condition of Harvey Rothenberger, 45, of Lyons Falls was reported as "slightly improved" at Kingston Hospital today. Rothenberger suffered a heart attack while driving a tractor-trailer on East Chester street extension early Thursday morning, but managed to pull the large vehicle safely off the highway, state police reported.



GOOD WILL — Max Conrad, who flew across the Atlantic Ocean recently, plans to devote a year to a 100,000-mile solo trip aimed at promoting international friendship. One of his plans is to get children of the world to communicate with each other through pen-pals correspondence clubs.

DONALD D. DUIGNAN

Commander Donald D. Duignan, of the Ulster County American Legion, today endorsed next Monday's Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice rally at municipal auditorium.

At the same time Duignan offered his full support in the fight against the Senate censure of Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), for which the rally is being held.

Duignan said "all Americans should look at the past record of all people who have actively worked against the planned attempt to overthrow the American government. These anti-Communists have always been under fire by the Communist Party and all of its various frontal organizations."

Duignan urged Ulster county residents to attend Monday's mass rally which will start at 8 p. m. Duignan will be present at the meeting, he said.

The petition, seeking 10,000,000 signatures of Americans in support of Senator McCarthy may be signed by the local public today from 3 until 9 p. m. and all day Saturday and Monday at the Kingston Chapter headquarters, 664 Broadway.

Two Freighters Collide

Accords Approval

Bonn, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's cabinet approved today the Paris accords to bring rearmed West Germany into NATO and sent them immediately to Parliament for ratification. "Rebel" factions in the four-party coalition government gave way and accepted the controversial Saar agreement as well as the pacts that would give West Germany sovereignty, authorize the raising of a 500,000-man armed force in the West European Union and make her a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Troopers Nab Two For South Police

Two youths believed wanted in a number of southern states were apprehended near Highland on Thursday afternoon by state police and are being held on vagrancy charges pending instructions from southern authorities, state police of the Highland station reported.

Apprehended with the assistance of an unknown truck driver were William Taylor, 24, of Freeport, Me., and Charles Wright, 20, of Marietta, Ga. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace P. J Conforti and sentenced to 20 days each on vagrancy charges.

Troopers said the youths were riding in a 1953 automobile reportedly stolen from New Orleans. They were captured when an unidentified truck driver, observing that two patrol cars were pursuing the youths' vehicle, "cut them off" on Route 9W about 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

State police said the youths are believed wanted in the South for alleged burglaries, car thefts and other violations.

Boost for Winnie

Liverpool, England, Nov. 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative party sat more firmly in the governmental saddle today after winning a sharply contested House of Commons by-election in Liverpool's West Derby district. Conservative J. V. Wollam retained the seat for the Tories by defeating Laborite C. R. Fenton 21,158-18,650 in yesterday's polling. Held to fill the vacancy caused by Sir David Maxwell Fyfe's elevation to the peerage, the election had been widely interpreted as a test of the Churchill government's popularity.
